

VALUABLE COIN IS FOUND

This Penny Saved Was Really a Penny Earned

By TOM POWELL

ROBERT COLLINS, 23, of Pacifica dug through a pocketful of change at the end of his water delivery route a month ago and came up with a zinc-coated steel penny dated 1944D.

An amateur coin collector, Collins was amazed—the U.S. mint struck only copper pennies in 1944. All steel pennies were struck in 1943.

He immediately took the coin to the Camino Coin Co., 5 West Thirty-seventh Avenue, San Mateo, to verify his find. There, owners Burton S. Blumert and Otto J. Kupler, both professional numismatists, shared in his amazement. "I have never seen anything like it," Blumert exclaimed.

The long, tedious process of authentication began as the two numismatists weighed the coin, tested it and examined it under a high-power microscope. It appeared to be genuine.

THE MEN then sent the coin to Walter Breen, the nationally known founder of the Institute of Numismatic Authenticators, and one of the foremost experts in the field of rare coins. After extensive study, he reported,

"the coin is, beyond a doubt, genuine."

"And," he added, "at present only this and one other specimen are known. The present coin is the finer of the two known, and, in all likelihood, the finest that will ever become available."

Breen stated, "Value would be difficult to establish definitely in absence of auction records which are clearly non-existent. I know that several 1944 Philadelphia steel cents have changed hands in four figures. (This coin was struck in Denver.)

COLLINS HAD intended to keep the coin for a while but said, since he recently quit his job, that he will sell it at auction.

Blumert said the coin will be put up for sale at the California State Auction in Fresno, April 14 through 17. He said a reserve bid of about $2000 probably would be entered by Collins. In other words, the numismatists expect the value of the coin to be more than $2000.

Breen explained, "The origin appears to be that early in 1944 some steel blanks left over from '43 remained in the hopper (the hopper is taller than a man's head, and therefore not readily inspected) from which they were fed into the coin press.

"HAD THE . . . cent come about only through numismatic sources or from mint personnel we might have grounds for suspecting another origin or an intentional production, but in the present case, no such grounds for suspicion can be adduced. The importance of the present coin is therefore abundantly obvious."

From whom did Collins get the coin. "Well, I remember being paid for water by several women," he said. "I do not remember which one gave me the coin. When I find a steel penny I exchange it for a copper one of my own—as I did in this case."

GREEN LIGHT FLASHED

Election Will Be Scheduled On Unification

An election, permitting Northy County residents to vote on a plan that would unify into one district, all schools within the area served by the Jefferson Union High School District, is expected to be set next week.

A green light for the election was flashed last week by the State Board of Education, which approved—without discussion—the proposal to unify the high school district.

Under law, a date for the election must be set by the San Mateo County Committee on School District Organization.

Allen B. Beaumont, chairman of the committee, said he will call a meeting of his group—probably for February 24—at which time the election date is expected to be set.

He added that he has asked the district's attorney's office for answers to questions on timing of the election.

County School Superintendent James Torney said the election cannot be held within 45 days prior to the primary June 7 or the general election November 6 and because of a 75-day posting and advertising requirement, the election cannot be called before the 45-day period starts to run prior to the primary.

He explained that unification has to be voted prior to January 1, if the new unified district is to go into business July 1 of next year.

Last week's state board action culminated more than four years of meetings, studies, discussions, proposals and counter-proposals about a North County unification plan.

Twice the county committee voted for a proposal that would split the high school district in half—leaving the Laguna Salada district by itself and unifying the Bayshore, Brisbane and Jefferson Elementary Districts.

The state board twice rejected this plan. The second rejection led to the appointment of a special review committee by the state.

At a hearing February 1, in the Little Theater of Westmoor High School, the review committee voted to submit to the state board the plan that would unify the high school district within itself.

The committee had been empowered to consider only this plan and the split-district proposal. (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

Year's First Meningitis Death Hits

San Mateo County's first meningitis death of the year was reported last Wednesday by Coroner Paul B. Jensen.

The victim was Charles Dupper, 1-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dupper of 602 Second Lane, South San Francisco.

The father said the baby became ill but seemed to recover after being given some baby aspirin. When the child became ill again, the family doctor advised that it be hospitalized. The baby died in County General Hospital.

The parents and their other child, Terry 2, were given preventive shots of penicillin.

Dr. James M. Bodie, chief of the public health division of the County Health and Welfare Department, said, however, that in recent years there have been no related cases of meningitis.

A 'Sweet' Washington's Birthday

A Big Day Set Tuesday

THE SCHOOLS will close, the stores will open, the flags will fly and cherry cakes and pies will be the order of the day Tuesday.

The occasion: Washington's Birthday, what else?

Since Tuesday will be a school holiday, Daly City youngsters Duane Escamilla, 6, and his sister Tina, 7, of 141 Park Plaza Drive will have plenty of time to help eat the holiday cakes they are decorating with baker Alfonso Tamo (above).

In case their supply runs short, the Westlake Shopping Center in Daly City will have 10,000 servings of cherry cake—along with coffee—for visitors to the center.

WHILE IT IS a holiday for schools, banks and some professional offices, Westlake's 91 stores will be open to celebrate their fourth annual Washington's Birthday Sale, which will begin at 9:30 a.m.

The center mall has been decorated with more than 100 U.S. flags, creating an "Avenue of Flags" to commemorate the national observance.

Because the holiday falls on Tuesday, The Post will publish a special Washington's Birthday supplement, carrying retail advertising from Westlake's stores.

This special section will be delivered to North County householders Sunday and Monday.

Offices of The Post-Times will continue to offer the special U.S. and California flag kits for $3.25.

Five days remain in which to purchase U.S. flags in time for display on Washington's Birthday, one of the major national holidays when the flag should be flown. The Post-Times business offices at 30 Park Plaza Drive in Daly City will be closed Washington's Birthday.

S.S.F. Plan Commission In Protest

The South San Francisco Planning Commission, flooded with protests from irate neighbors, Monday night denied an application to establish an auto sales lot on a portion of a lot at Linden Avenue and Village Way.

The applicants, David and Alvin Arata, did not appear at the hearing.

They had asked permission to (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Former D.C. Police Clerk Arrested on Embezzlement

A former Daly City police clerk was arrested last week on charges of embezzlement and falsification of public records.

Authorities said an investigation had determined that about $2,000 in police department funds was missing.

The suspect is Mrs. Janet O. Colburn, 49, of 30 Belhaven Avenue, Daly City. She had been suspended De-

N. COUNTY COUNCIL RACES

Last-Minute Rush Foreseen for Filing

A last-minute rush to file for election to governing councils for four North County cities appeared in the office today.

Deadline for filing is noon tomorrow. However, 14 likely candidates had taken out nomination papers as of yesterday but had not filed them in city clerk's offices. Ten others had filed their papers.

The greatest degree of hesitancy was evidenced in Pacifica where voters will choose three councilmen in the April municipal elections.

Only one candidate, William Hartz of 1136 Manzanita Drive, had filed his papers.

Six others, including three incumbents, had taken out nomination papers. They include incumbents Fred Ballew, Harlan Minshew and Don McMannis and candidates Nick Gust of Nick's Rockaway Restaurant, Frank Wright of 1335 Grand Avenue and Robert Keating of Kent Road and Danman Avenue.

McMannis and Keating took out their nomination papers during the past week. McMannis was appointed to the council to fill out the term of the late Harold Feyge.

In Daly City, incumbent Councilmen Bernard Lycett and Michael DeBernardi filed their papers to join veteran Councilman Edward Dennis in the election lists.

Four other candidates have taken out nomination papers. The latest to indicate interest was Joseph A. Bavarese of 43 (Please See Page 2, Column 1)

Schools Are Bitten By The Flu Bug

When the flu bug bites, the first organization to feel the full effects of the illness is usually the schools.

The North County is no exception. Schools in the two Jefferson districts, the Laguna Salada District and the South San Francisco Unified School District all report a high rate of absenteeism in their classrooms.

The Jefferson Union High School District reported an absentee rate of over 20 per cent yesterday morning.

The Jefferson Elementary School District said its absentee rate was about 11 per cent as of Monday morning.

The Laguna Salada School District reported an absentee rate of over 12 per cent as of Monday.

Finally, the South San Francisco Unified School District said its absentee rate was varying from a low of 7.0 per cent in one school to about 20 per cent in another yesterday morning.

Dr. James M. Bodie, superintendent of the public health division of the County Health and Welfare Department, said last week that he suspects that the flu epidemic predicted for this winter may have finally started.

"Reports from practicing physicians and absenteeism figures from schools suggest that it may have started," Dr. Bodie said.

Doctors have reported that (Please See Page 2, Column 7)

BOYS' CLUB PLAN

Coast May Get New Auditorium

Pacifica may get a new 1,200-seat community auditorium, the City Council learned last week.

Roland Terry, a spokesman for the Pacifica Boys' Club Incorporated, went before the council to advise it of plans to construct a new club building in the Linda Mar district and to request council approval of the undertaking.

The new building, he said, would include a gymnasium that could be converted to a 1,200-seat auditorium available for community events.

Terry's announcement met with mixed reactions from the council.

Wary of endorsing the building project without approval of the Planning and Park, Beach and Recreation Commissions, councilmen settled on Fred Ballew's resolution "commending and encouraging individuals working to establish a boys' club in Pacifica."

Those efforts have been underway since last July, according to Terry, when a group of Pacifica businessmen met to organize the club.

The new building, he said, would be constructed on land donated to the club by Challenge Developments Incorporated.

The proposed site is at the end of Yosemite Avenue in Linda Mar. It encompasses slightly more than four acres.

Terry told councilmen the club's directors have formulated a three-year budget that would not rely on outside help—such as United Crusade funds.

The council set March 2 for a joint study session with the city commissions concerned with the project.

War Bunker Planned For Pacifica Jail

Approval was given at last week's Pacifica City Council meeting for conversion of an old World War II bunker into an emergency operating center, a police headquarters, and a jail.

The bunker is located in the Sharp Park district on Milagra Ridge. It lies in back of Oceana High School below the United States Army Nike site. Tunneled 143 feet into the ground, the bunker provides a sweeping view of the coast. Its concrete walls are six feet thick. It served as a magazine and plotting room for two guns during World War II and provided secondary defense, and protection of San Francisco.

Pacifica has been considering use of the bunker, according to (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

Looping the Loop

SOUTHBOUND Junipero Serra Boulevard traffic winds its way for the first time under a new overpass that is a key link in a giant interchange being constructed in Daly City for the Junipero Serra Freeway. Traffic at this point loops around to the left, crosses the bridge and makes a signal-free right turn to continue south on Junipero Serra. Overpass is at Knowles Avenue and Alemany Boulevard.

Others who previously had taken out nomination papers include Del C. Wilson of 206 Alta Loma Avenue, a councilman from 1954 to 1958 who was defeated in a re-election bid at the end of his term; Robert D. Sherwood of 128 St. Francis Boulevard and Eugene Vinje of 532 Niantic Avenue.

The situation in South San Francisco was similar to that in Daly City.

Three candidates had filed their papers while four others had taken out nomination papers. Two seats will be contested—those of Andrew Rocca and Patrick Ahern.

Those who had filed included Rocca, Young Han Choo of 351 Francisco Drive, an unsuccessful candidate for the South San Francisco School Board last year, and Warren Steinkamp of 51 Capay Circle.

Those who had their papers but had not filed them included incumbent Councilman Patrick Ahern, former Police Chief Louis Belloni of 745 Miller Avenue, James Petty of 330 Newman Drive, a realtor, and James S. Claar of 717 Circle Court.

Claar, a driver for Foremost Dairies of San Francisco, was the latest candidate to take out his papers.

In Colma, smallest of the four North County cities, three candidates had filed for election to two council seats. No others had taken out nomination papers.

Those who had filed included incumbent Councilmen Raymond D. Ottoboni and Mrs. Rena Valera and challenger Fred Garbini, an unsuccessful candidate two years ago. Garbini is an employee of the Greyhound Bus Company.

In addition, the offices of city treasurer and city clerk in Colma will be up for election.

Two candidates had filed petitions for treasurer to succeed Gilbert H. Parker, who has retired. They are Mrs. Edna E. Jensen, a housewife, and Charles P. Gerrans, a caretaker at Salem Memorial Park.

Mrs. Mary Vera Ryan, receptionist-secretary at Holy Cross Cemetery, had taken out nomination papers but had not filed.

Thieves Take $9000 From D.C. Home

Thieves ransacked a Daly City home and stole coins and currency estimated at about $9,000, police said Monday.

Investigators said jewelry and miscellaneous items also had been stolen from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kott of 532 Rio Verde Street.

The thieves forced their way through a door to a garage and then made their way into the house, police said.

They were looking for a suspect described as "a salesman type," about 20 years old and wearing a blue windbreaker.

The suspect was reported to have driven away in an old model maroon car.

New Detour Funnels Traffic Over Freeway Ramp in D.C.

A traffic detour that will funnel traffic over a ramp of the new Junipero Serra Freeway in Daly City for the first time went into effect last week.

The detour is expected to remain in effect until late summer.

Southbound traffic from Alemany Boulevard and the Southern Freeway will be routed under a new undercrossing bridge at Knowles Avenue and around a ramp connecting with the overcrossing.

The traffic will make a signal-free right turn at Junipero Serra and then continue south.

At present, southbound Alemany and Southern Freeway traffic merges with southbound Junipero Serra traffic via a temporary crossover.

The crossover will be eliminated to make way for a permanent on-ramp to the Junipero Serra Freeway.

A spokesman for the State Division of Highways said the detour was a part of the sequence of construction associated with building the complex interchange at Knowles Avenue.

At this point, the Southern and Junipero Serra Freeways, Knowles Avenue, Alemany and Junipero Serra Boulevards will meet.

The division spokesman said highway engineers didn't expect any traffic tie-ups after the detour went into operation.

South San Francisco at 2 p.m. Monday.

The suspect had been in charge of the police department's warrants desk for two and a half years.

This job involves itemizing citations issued by Daly City and other police agencies and handling fines remitted for the citations.

The job procedure calls for the warrants clerk to deposit the fines and to write checks to police agencies for the warrants they had issued and for which the fines had been paid.

An investigation focused on Mrs. Colburn after she was transferred to another clerical duty in a move that the police department described as an effort to rotate duties among police clerks.

After the transfer, irregularities were discovered in the warrants desk operation, investigators said.

An investigation into the amount of money missing is expected to continue until the end of this month.

Mrs. Colburn joined the police department August 7, 1963. She had been classified as a clerk-typist.

She was notified of her dismissal in a letter dated January 17. Under personnel procedures, she then had three days to answer the charges listed in the letter of dismissal. An answer was not filed, city officials said.

around the Civic Center, now under construction, should be reserved for office buildings of similar uses.

Polonsky said that permitting the apartments would be like inserting "an apartment island" into the area.

Both men noted that the city was studying the Civic Center area to determine what kind of posture it should take.

Last week, the Planning Commission set public hearings for March 8 on two new types of zoning that might some day be applied to the Civic Center area.

One of the zonings would give city planners the power to control architecture and design in certain areas.

The application for a permit to build the apartments on Eighty-eighth Street had been filed by the Dale Farnow Company of San Francisco. A triplex would be built on one lot and a four-plex on the other, according to the applicant.

The two lots are located immediately west of the Daly City Main Post Office.

In other business, councilmen were asked to formulate opinions on a lengthy report prepared by a subcommittee of the Regional Planning Commission of San Mateo County.

The report was concerned with the oft-mentioned proposal to build an outer Bayshore freeway.

Leonard Brown, a member of the Planning Commission and the chairman of the subcommittee, said the committee felt that an outer freeway was "undesirable" but that:

"If it (the freeway) is proved necessary, it should be constructed with a minimum of bay fill and the freeway should never be considered as the outer limit of bay fill."

Councilmen agreed to discuss the report at a study session Monday night.

D.C. Students Attend City Council Meet

Fifteen Jefferson and Westmoor High School students got a first-hand look at the way a City Council conducts a regular session last night.

The students were the guests of the Daly City Council as part of the city's annual observance of Youth in Government Week.

Students have been assigned roles as councilmen and department heads and last night they sat next to the officials whose roles they were taking.

Next week, the students will "take over" city government for a day and conduct a council session of their own. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Monday in the council chambers in City Hall.

Their "guests" will be Daly City councilmen and department heads.

At last night's meeting, Mayor Francis Pacelli welcomed the students and quipped that "to-night you're going to sit and watch the experts and next week you're going to be the experts."

During the session as the council transacted business, councilmen and city officials huddled with their student counterparts to explain the background behind each council action.

The students and their assigned roles are: Alan McAllister, mayor; Marty Craig, mayor pro tem; Jeff Thomas, councilman; John Lanthier, councilman; Marvin Rance, councilman; Linda Runne, city treasurer and Debbie Skootsky, city clerk; Michael Vasquez, city manager; Cathy Chaney, city attorney; Ivan Eng, city engineer; Greg McHugh, finance director; Robert Bias, police chief; Tom Mariani, fire chief; Kim Nobles, recreation director, and Sue Ertoia, city librarian.

The students will be guests of the city at a Youth in Government Week luncheon at noon Thursday in Val's Redroom Restaurant.

STAND REAFFIRMED

Planners Deny Large Sign Bid

Daly City Planning Commissioners last week reaffirmed their stand on signs by recommending denial of a 46-foot long illuminated billboard atop a building at the corner of Mission Street and San Pedro Road.

Foster and Kleiser had applied for a permit for the sign, which would be 18 feet, eight inches tall, and thus barely within the city's 36-foot height limitation.

The commissioners were unanimous in their feeling that the sign, as proposed, would be just too big for the building atop which it would rest.

"It almost swallows the building," said Commissioner McRobert Stewart.

Members also voiced concern over the proliferation of signs along Mission Street.

"We're trying to cut down on billboards on Mission Street," Commissioner Melvin Taylor said. "There are just too many of them now."

In recommending denial of the application, City Planner Edward Lawson cited four points:

The billboard would not be related to businesses conducted on the property.

The sign would extend some ten feet above the roof—and roof signs are opposed by Daly City planners on principle.

The sign's size in relation to the building would make it esthetically objectionable.

There are already so many signs and "such clutter" along

Mission Street that adding more could lead to the "eventual decline" of the thoroughfare.

Finally, Lawson noted his opposition to the billboard on the basis of "general esthetics."

The planning commission's recommendation will go before the city council February 23.

Mayor James Fox, for six years. The last two years have been spent in research. The decision was reached after a study session between city officials.

Councilwoman Grace McCarthy, in approving the project, stated, "We have a rather remarkable facility there. I hate to see it go to waste."

"The police are operating with a practically impossible housing situation upstairs," Councilman Fred Ballew said, in describing the present quarters which are on the second floor of the small city hall, a former schoolhouse.

Pacifica has no city jail.

Councilman Don McMannis, who voted against the resolution, said he was not "sold on the idea. Renovation of this structure at a cost of $24 a square foot is a lot of money.

A new bare building would cost $8 to $10 a foot. We should be careful how we spend public funds, especially for something that is going to be phased out in ten years when we have our new civic center," he said.

City Manager Karl Baldwin, in supporting the resolution, said that the total cost of conversion would be $160,200. This would include the cost of survey and access roads.

they are seeing considerable numbers of cases of an influenza-like illness, characterized by a fever of approximately 103 degrees, nausea and a dry cough. Dr. Bodie advised anyone having these symptoms to consult their doctor.

The illness usually lasts only two or three days, Dr. Bodie said.

Coast Man

Is Accused

In Knifing

A Pacifica man, distraught by a decision made by his ex-girl friend, stabbed the girl's new boy friend with a steak knife early Monday morning in the culmination of a bizarre day and night.

Daly City police said Edward Lawrence Feliciano, 25, of 32 Paloma Avenue, Pacifica, attacked and knifed Martin E. Hesketh, 23, of 214 School Street, Daly City, at the Pacifica man's home.

Feliciano, according to the police report, had been taken by Hesketh and JoAnne Villett, Feliciano's ex-girl friend, from Peninsula Hospital where he had been suffering from pleurisy (an inflammation of the membrane surrounding the lungs), to his home.

Police said that on the way home Feliciano pleaded with Miss Villett to "give him one more chance" and "stay with him."

She refused and said she was going to "live with Hesketh." This decision, according to police, "greatly disturbed" Feliciano.

Once at Feliciano's home, according to Miss Villett, the pair shook hands and went into the house.

Feliciano told Pacifica officer Edward Ulrich that when he entered the kitchen he picked up the steak knife off the drainboard and then "blackened out."

He said the next thing he knew the four-and-a-half inch knife was sticking out of Hesketh's neck.

Feliciano then ran from the house and sped in his car at a high rate of speed into Daly City where he was apprehended by police.

Hesketh and Miss Villett drove to the Pacifica police station with the knife still lodged in his neck.

Hesketh was taken to Mary's Help Hospital, was treated and then released.

Feliciano, still suffering from pleurisy at the Daly City police station, had another seizure from the ailment and was rushed to Mary's Help.

He was treated there and then taken to South San Francisco's police station where he was jailed (Pacifica has no jail).

He was reported as in "good condition" there Monday.

PAUL HUPF
Takes New Post

Hupf Named To County Parks Panel

City Attorney Paul M. Hupf, of Daly City, has been appointed to the County Parks and Recreation Commission to succeed John L. (Nick) Carter of Half Moon Bay.

Hupf was recommended for the position by County Manager E. R. Stallings and his choice was unanimously confirmed by the County Board of Supervisors.

Carter had been a commission member since December 24, 1957. He has been serving voluntarily since the expiration of his term last December, pending the appointment of a successor.

He said he did not wish to be appointed.

He is a member of the Half Moon Bay City Council and is a retired consultant in education.

Hupf's appointment was effective last Wednesday. Carter attended his last commission meeting last Tuesday.

D.C. Planner Reports Theft

Daly City Planner Edward Lawson reported to police last week that a brief case, containing Daly City Planning Commission papers had been stolen from his auto.

He said the theft occurred sometime between 10 p.m. February 8 and 8:30 a.m. February 9.

Double Audit

Is Urged By

Tom Noonan

Thomas F. Noonan, of Pacifica, candidate for San Mateo County Assessor, urged Assembly Speaker Jesse Unruh to ask the new session of the legislature to enact a provision guaranteeing a double audit system for every metropolitan assessor's office throughout California.

"With such a system," said Noonan, "it would become virtually impossible for any assessor to grant an individual taxpayer an unfair advantage, as can now be done under the present system with its inherent invitation to fraud."

Noonan, who is opposing incumbent Assessor Ralph Woodman, endorsed Unruh's newly announced 45-point program to reform administration of the property tax, being presented to the new session.

"This program," said Noonan, "covers most of the reforms which I would effect if I were elected."

Co-sponsors of the reform program are Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan of South San Francisco and Assemblyman Nicholas Petris of Oakland.

Its provisions spring largely from the findings made in a series of hearings by Ryan's sub-

Discord Is Voiced About Coast Funds

Although approval was given by Pacifica city councilmen for a Fairmont Recreation Building agreement, there was an indication at last week's meeting that some discord existed within the homeowners' group which is donating $10,000 for the building.

Bill McKane, of 258 Gateway, in Fairmont, made a belated objection following passage of the agreement at the City Council meeting. "The use of our money was not brought before the general membership for approval," McKane stated.

Mayor Fox told McKane that the problem would have to be taken up by him personally with his organization. He also complimented Edward R. Libonati of 267 Edgemoor Drive, president of the organization, for his interest and efforts in improving their area.

Pacifica will donate $17,000 from its budget toward the Fairmont Recreation Building.

Libonati stated after the meeting that expenditure of the homeowners' association money had been approved by the board of directors at a club meeting in which McKane was not in attendance.

By LE PACINI

WE GOT SO carried away with our Lefty Gomez column a couple of weeks ago that we "overwrote" and it became necessary to lop off one of Gomez' best stories. So here it is:

We had told of how some of Gomez' favorite stories revolved around the season he managed the Yankee farm, Jinghamton, and more particularly around a first baseman named Dick Kryhoski.

"One time Kryhoski is on second," related Gomez, and "Gerry Coleman on first, and the hitter singles. Kryhoski, who never was a prima ballerina, rounds third and the ball is still rolling so I figure even he's a cinch to score, but Coleman is trying to leg it to third and I don't think he can make it.

"Go back, go back," I yell, but Coleman keeps coming. Now, Kryhoski's about three feet from home plate when he hears me yell to go back, and he thinks I'm yelling at him, so he heads back to third and him and Coleman hit the bag together.

"By this time the play's blown, anyway, so I figure there's nothing left to do but for ME to slide into third. too. It was very funny, but I got kicked out of the game."

Like Jimmy Durante, Gomez has a million of 'em, and we'll try to inject an occasional Gomez story into future columns.

IT MAY BE OUT of season for professional baseball stories but the high schools are already preparing for their openers, and the NPL baseball story of the year could lie down the coast, at Terra Nova.

If the Tigers lose more than they win it won't be for lack of hustle on the part of their coach, Al Figone. The former Jefferson baseball great is the hardest working baseball coach in the league, and it's gotta pay off one of these years.

For instance, Figone spent part of his summer constructing a batting cage and screen protectors (those things you see in front of the pitchers at Candlestick during batting practice) and prodding groundskeepers into building a dozen practice pitching mounds for him around various parts of the field.

He also does probably the most extensive scouting of other teams than any prep coach in the area. He has a whole file of notes on his enemies and intends to make his players digest 'em all.

Additionally, he puts his charges through an intensive classroom baseball course which he culminates with a written test which they keep taking until they're letter perfect. He wants them to not only know the theory behind their moves, but to be able to understand it.

This columnist took Figone's test, incidentally, and scored 77 per cent.

"If you were on my team," said Figone, his red pencil poised, "you'd be carrying bats."

Which makes us wonder why we went to the bother of praising Figone.

LOCAL NOTES:

DESPITE WHAT WE WROTE about Ken Venturi a couple of years ago. We were glad that he won the Lucky. He should have. It was dramatically proper.

APOLOGIES TO TERRA NOVA wrestler Al Johnson, who was identified by this column a few weeks ago as an Oceana Shark. Which is akin in Pacifica to a Washington, D.C., columnist calling J. Edgar Hoover head of the CIA. But for once we can truly slough off the blame on either our editor or a know-it-all type-setter. Our original piece described Johnson, indeed, as a Terra Nova Tiger. But some mysterious thing happened to that bit of information between Daly City and San Mateo, where The Post is printed.

WE'VE ALWAYS MEANT to note the irony in Bob Rodrigo's being baseball coach at San Francisco State. A Little-All American fullback while a Gator underdog, Rod, who had been an outstanding high school baseballer, hardly got to play the diamond game at State because he always seemed to be nursing football ailments. At that time if anyone had guessed that Rodrigo would some day be on the State coaching staff, probably not a blessed soul would have figured him as anything but a football man.

AND TWO TERRA NOVA grads have made it big, in different ways. Jim Childers (class of '64) recently won the "Dress Blue Uniform" award in his 80-man platoon upon completion of Marine basic training at San Diego. On the other hand, Bill Whalen (class of '63), who also played football, will soon begin training for a two-year assignment in Nigeria for the Peace Corps.

EACH IN HIS own way...

GONE ARE THE DAYS, at least for probably a good, long time, when America ruled professional boxing. Not too many years ago foreign contenders above the featherweight division were relatively rare, but a recent survey of top contenders shows the following:

There are three foreign boxers listed among the 10 heavyweights, while the light heavyweight champ, Jose Torres, is a native of Puerto Rico, and is followed in his division by four foreign-born fighters out of the top 10. The middleweight champ, Dick Tiger, is from Nigeria, and of the top 10 in his class, half are foreigners.

There are three foreign fighters among the top 10 contending middleweights, while the junior middleweight champ, Carlos Hernandez, is a Venezuelan native. Six of the 10 rated behind him are foreigners.

Eight of the top-ranked lightweights are of foreign birth, which is also the case in the junior welterweight division, which also boasts a foreign champ, Flash Elorde of the Philippines.

In trying to keep boxing's money in the United States, the hoods drove it out.

GETTING BACK to the phony theatrics of golfers who insist that a noisy crowd ruins their game, we can now see why the colorful Chi-Chi Rodriguez was censured last year.

He was spoiling the image, proving that a "serious" golfer could play big-time golf and relax—yes, even clown—in the process.

But golf alone shouldn't be blamed. More and more the color is going out of baseball, particularly, but other sports, too.

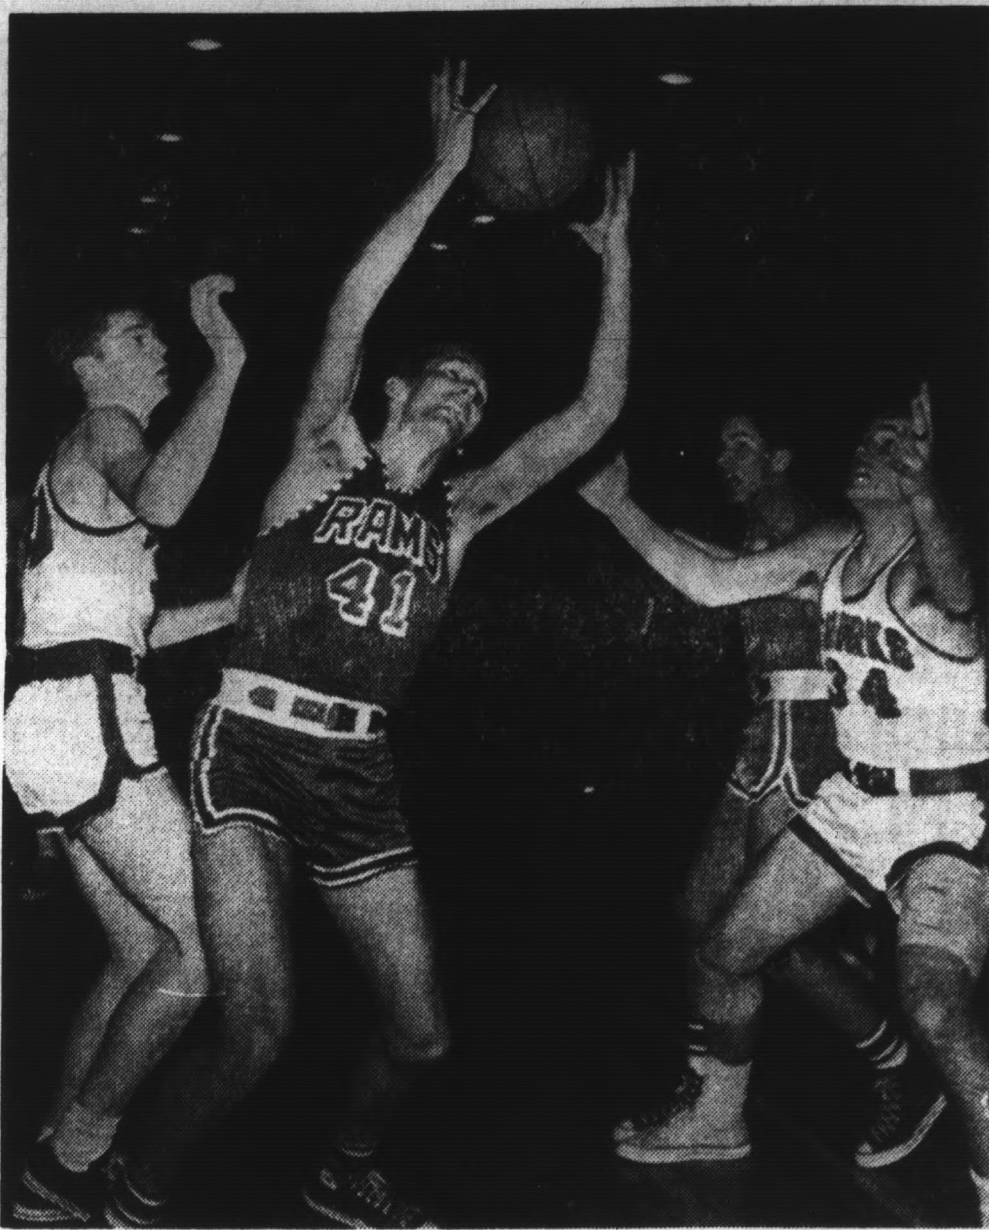

It's all part of a trend in this country toward security. It used to be, you asked a kid what he wanted to be, nine times out of 10 it was a cop or a fireman or a sailor or a flyer or a big league ball player. Now nine out of 10 will tell you they want a civil service job.

Sometimes we think the Hells Angels have something.

WARRIORS ARE 9-0

S.S.F. in Title Tilt Friday

Determined Ram

DON LIPPI, 41, Westmoor High School forward, grimaces as he prepares to grab a rebound in the Rams' game with Oceana last week. Mike Burger, 34, of the Sharks looks on. The Sharks pushed the visitors into overtime before losing it, 47-42.

HOSTS TN TODAY

Westmoor Wins Two NPL Tests

Westmoor High School hosts Jefferson, 49-43, in a North Peninsula League game Tuesday.

Sparked by Willie Redmond, who scored 13 first quarter points, Jefferson took a lead at the end of the first quarter, 16-11. In the second quarter, the Indians slowed down but was still able to up its lead, 29-21 at the intermission. Redmond tallied seven more points in the second quarter.

The third quarter saw the Rams turn from cold to hot. Don Lippi and Heick strung together three field goals and three free throws to bring the Rams to a 3-38 tie as the buzzer ended the third quarter.

At the outset of the final stanza, Westmoor continued its late drive for the upset. A pair of field goals by Corcoran and Lippi gave the Rams a lead they never relinquished.

Westmoor held Redmond to just three points in the second half, but he still managed high game honors with 23 markers.

High man for the Rams was Lippi with 16 points, followed by Heick with 13 and Corcoran with nine digits.

"I thought the kids hustled real well during the second half," said Ram coach Tony Giammona. "They looked real good on the boards," he added. "It was the best birthday present they could have given me," he replied.

Jefferson's Jeff Wins Pole Vault

Former Jefferson High School and College of San Mateo pole vaulter Jeff Chase beat John Pennel in their specialty last week at the sixth annual Will Rogers Indoor Games at Fort Worth, Texas, by clearing 16-6.

He tried three times to clear 16-9½, the current world indoor mark held by Pennel but nicked the bar each time.

Pennel failed to clear the crossbar at any height.

Chase will compete in the Golden Gate Invitational at the Cow Palace at the end of the month.

South San Francisco High School, the North Peninsula League's most potent cage unit with a perfect 9-0 league ledger, has a bye today and then tackles Jefferson Friday afternoon in the Industrial City.

If the Warriors beat Jeff the NPL title is theirs—for the first time since the league's inception.

Having already whipped the Daly City Indians twice this season, SSF is expected to have little trouble Friday.

Last week SSF won two more league tilts. The Warriors beat Terra Nova last Friday and Half Moon Bay last Tuesday. TN fell, 71-55.

Terra Nova's determined Tigers were trailing the Warriors by only six points when, with 4:50 remaining on the clock in the fourth quarter, lightning struck in the form of Greg Jones and Jim Henry.

Both Warrior stalwarts connected on field goals, were fouled, and then calmly sunk the free throws to widen the scoring margin from 55-49 to 61-49. Any hopes for a Tiger upset went out the window within a matter of seconds.

The ball game sparked with excellent defensive play by both clubs. The league's leading scorer, Warrior forward Henry, was held scoreless in the first half and managed only 11 markers for the game, his season's low.

Mike Deurloo, Terra Nova's leading point maker, was held to one goal from the field and a mere nine points for the game.

The 16-point spread is the closest any team has gotten to the title-bound Warriors all season. Jones picked up the slack in Henry's scoring by garnering 12 field goals and a total of 29 points.

South S.F.'s bid for All-County honors, Henry, soared for 26 rebounds. Kenny was high for Terra Nova with 16 points.

In the Class B game, Steve Venters scored all of South S.F.'s six points in over-time while Terra Nova was held scoreless in the extra period for a crucial 60-54 win. The Warriors remained in first place with a one-game lead.

Coach Purcell's Warriors ran their record to 8-0 in the NPL race by racing past winless Half Moon Bay, 97-60.

With Jones, Henry and Kevin Pickett each hitting eight points, the hosts ran up a 31-8 first quarter lead and were never in serious trouble thereafter.

Purcell substituted freely after the initial quarter and everyone in blue and white got into the scoring column.

Cougar coach Chuck Short might have discovered a much-needed scoring punch in forward Jim Tjogas, who blitzed the nets for 13 field goals and 26 points.

The Warriors won the class B contest, 61-28.

Tigers Annex 'Coastside Cage Crown'

Terra Nova High School won't win the North Peninsula League cage title, but that doesn't detract from its status on the coastside.

The Tigers won the mythical coastside championship by downing neighboring Oceana, 55-41, last week.

Terra Nova, getting its offensive impetus from Mike Deurloo, rolled out to a 33-22 halftime lead and was never threatened thereafter.

The Sharks, led by Tim Sershan, rallied briefly in the third period but could not overcome the home club's lead.

Deurloo led the winners with 18 points, while teammate Tom Wimmer contributed 14 markers. Sershan paced the losers and took high game honors with 19 points.

The victory was Terra Nova's fourth in eight games, while the Sharks suffered their seventh loss in eight outings.

Palace Loses Seals and $$

Daly City's Cow Palace lost a tenant and probably a $1.6 million renovation check all in one swift swoop of a pen last week.

The decision of the National Hockey League franchise to leave the Cow Palace and take quarters in the new $25-million Oakland Coliseum apparently did not shock the Palace officials.

"I cannot say I am surprised," said Cow Palace Manager Ed Diran. "We can't force them to come here. All I can say is that the Cow Palace can get along better without hockey than hockey can get along without the Cow Palace," he added.

The state government had appropriated over $1.6 million towards the refurbishing of the CP arena, contingent on acquiring the acquisition of a 10-year lease with the Bay Area's major league hockey team.

San Bruno's Wally Bunker, the American League freshman phenom but the sophomore bust, will be back to attempt to gain more fame and money than he did in 1965.

The 21-year-old former Capuchino High School star, who slipped to a 10-11 record last year after having a 19-5 mark his rookie season.

RICH BURT AND DON DELBON

TN Coaches Tops

By JOHN HORGAN

Contrary to the dictates of Charlie Brown, Linus, Snoopy and the rest of the comic strip characters from the cast of "Peanuts," there is one definition of happiness they have omitted in their list: happiness is playing basketball at Terra Nova High School.

Indeed, the Pacifica school is blessed with what is considered by their peers to be the best one-two combo of cage coaches in the North Peninsula League.

Rich Burt and Don Delbon make the game enjoyable for both the players and knowledgeable fans — and they do it under the most adverse of circumstances.

At Terra Nova, like neighboring Oceana, basketball players of the ready-made variety are rare. For a number of reasons.

Pacifica has had no organized cage program for youngsters — either in the grade schools or in the recreation department — for the teaching and playing of the round-ball game until just recently.

Further, there is no hoop tradition in that city of 26,000. Neighborhood basketball games in the school yards are few and far between.

But Burt and Delbon, both basketball devotees, have begun to surmount this problem and the results are beginning to show. Not in titles or championships but in quality of player produced at graduation.

Nova since the school's inception in 1960.

He is a former professional baseball player in the Detroit farm system and coached three years at St. Vincent's High School in Vallejo before coming to the Ti-have not come nearly so easily.

Burt's first four complete seasons saw his clubs go: 4-22, 8-12, 6-14 and 12-9. This year his five is 3-9 going into this week's round of North Peninsula League games.

A lot of credit for any winning done by the Tigers, according to Burt, lies in the job done by Delbon.

Little Don (he is a "small") 5-11) was Peninsula Athletic League basketball Player of the year in 1955.

He attended the University of Oregon for three years, dropped out, played some service ball (where he was named to numerous all-service clubs) and finished his education at San Francisco State College.

"Before Don got here, there wasn't a kid in the school who could shoot a jump shot well until they followed Don's style," said Burt.

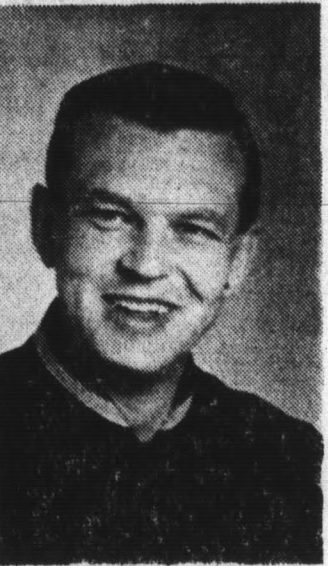

Delbon, who has coached the B's at Terra Nova since 1963 and helps Burt with the C's and D's in the fall, has proven a boon to the Tiger coaching staff from a learning standpoint.

DON DELBON

As Burt put it, "I am convinced that we are on the way up now. Believe me, it's been a long time coming."

A graduate of Castlemont High School in Oakland and San Francisco State College, Burt, 34, has been the head basketball coach at Terra gers. Two of those years he was varsity head coach.

At St. Vincent's, he tutored, among others, the two McGraw brothers, both of whom play baseball in the New York Mets' chain. His over-all two-year cage record at St. Vincent's was 36-17.

But at Terra Nova, wins

El Camino Runs Over HMB, 89-42

Everything is status quo in the North Peninsula League Basketball race today. South San Francisco High School is still in first place, El Camino High School is still in third place, and Half Moon Bay is still all alone in the cellar.

El Camino retained its standing and Half Moon Bay remained the undisputed cellar-dweller on the strength of El Camino's 89-42 victory on the Coastside last Friday.

It was a runaway in the true sense of the word, with the Colts jumping to a 10-point first-quarter lead which they padded even with subs playing the end of the first half and the entire fourth period.

While the varsity was in there, Gordon Sanoff and Mickey Ackley tallied 19 and 18 points respectively to spark an offense that at one stage of the contest meshed the net for 19 straight points while holding the Cougars scoreless.

El Camino made it a clean sweep with a 65-33 victory in the lightweight game.

CORING APPLES

When you are coring apples or pears before baking, don't cut through the blossom end if the core cavity is to be stuffed with sugar and butter or similar ingredients.

Would you believe your car's vehicle identification number might be worth $2,332.00 in cash to you?

(This odd figure is also the price of a Buick Special*. Pleasant surprise, isn't it?)

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS: Check that car registration of yours. If the first symbols of your vehicle identification number on it match up with one of those listed at the right, you might have won yourself $2,332 cash. No slogan to invent, no puzzle to solve. To find out for sure if you won, just hop down to your nearest Buick dealer's. He's got a list of complete winning numbers posted. (No, you don't have to own a Buick to have a winning number.) If your complete vehicle identification number appears on his list—you're in the money.

BART Troubles Provide Lesson

THERE IS A pointed lesson for those making studies and plans for the West Bay Rapid Transit District in the awkward situation that now confronts the Bay Area Rapid Transit District. Despite an $800 million bond authorization, BARTD now finds that advancing costs are going far, far above original estimates—a single $61 million bid on an Oakland subway segment was $13 million over estimate and only a beginning.

BARTD will be forced to scale down its service plans or raise more money, perhaps as much as $200 million more. Either prospect is enormously discouraging to the people within the district who must take less than they were promised or pay far more than they had expected to pay.

Peninsulans, even though they bowed out of BARTD for the good reasons that impelled their withdrawal, are sorry to know that the big transit project is in trouble and will join in hopes that its difficulties may be solved.

This is not uninterested sympathy. It develops from the fact that an effective, well-integrated system of transit for the entire Bay Area will be largely dependent upon the success of BARTD.

THE LESSON for our own West Bay Rapid Transit District lies in avoiding the costly construction, depot and right-of-way costs, and odd-gauged rolling stock investment, to which BARTD has committed itself without making sufficient provision to meet escalating expense.

The lesson clearly shows that West Bay Rapid Transit District should direct its studies, not to the best of all possible systems (and the most expensive), but to the adaptation of existing facilities by integration and augmentation, by use of the present rail and highway facilities, and by careful purchase of equipment and rolling stock that can be liquidated without loss if some dramatically new system of rapid transit becomes more desirable.

Bearing in mind that whatever system is finally decided upon there is strong likelihood that it will fail to be self-supporting as to operative costs, let alone self-amortizing as to capital expenditure, there is the inescapable conclusion that rapid transit will be a continuing tax burden.

UNDER SUCH circumstances, the planning and design needs to be as much concerned with conserving the public funds as it is with providing an efficient rapid transit system. This means that the routes of subsidy and of contracting with private enterprise must be fully explored instead of being ignored in favor of some grandiose creation for which the taxpayers would have to take the whole rap.

BARTD appears to be in for a hard time and we are sorry about that. But it would be folly not to profit by the example it is providing.

The Money In Mystery

COMMUNIQUE FROM the home office: Two of the largest literary estates in history were left by creators of super sleuths who found a mass audience of admirers that spanned more than three decades.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's estate, flourishing for the past 35 years, cannot be approached in total revenue, not even by that of George Bernard Shaw's exceptional royalties from "My Fair Lady."

In the future, it may be matched by the late Ian Fleming's estate which will probably take three or four years to settle. But that is contingent on whether his widow will allow Kingsley Amis to "ghost write" the James Bond stories.

The author sold all his future book, though not film, royalties to Jock Campbell for a tax advantage but retained a "49 per cent share." Mrs. Fleming recently reported that she is "not getting very much of it," with Campbell getting one third, the film people another third and the estate the final third for all James Bond merchandise. The film royalties go directly to the estate.

Not a James Bond fan herself, of all his writings, she is more partial to a short story, "The Living Daylights," which is about to appear in a collection. She is considering selling Fleming's valuable collection of first editions.

John Pearson is reportedly writing a biography of Fleming but is unable to pry anything out of British Naval Intelligence, with whom the James Bond creator served during the war.

THE CONAN DOYLE estate has its own production company, Sir Nigel Films Ltd. to exploit the screen and television potentialities of its properties. "Study in Terror," made in Europe and renamed "Fog" for release by Columbia Pictures in this country is the latest property. Next on the agenda is a film based on Doyle's "Brigadier Gerard" stories. Sean Connery may possibly do the lead with negotiations also going on with Claudia Cardinale, Peter Ustinov and Raf Vallone.

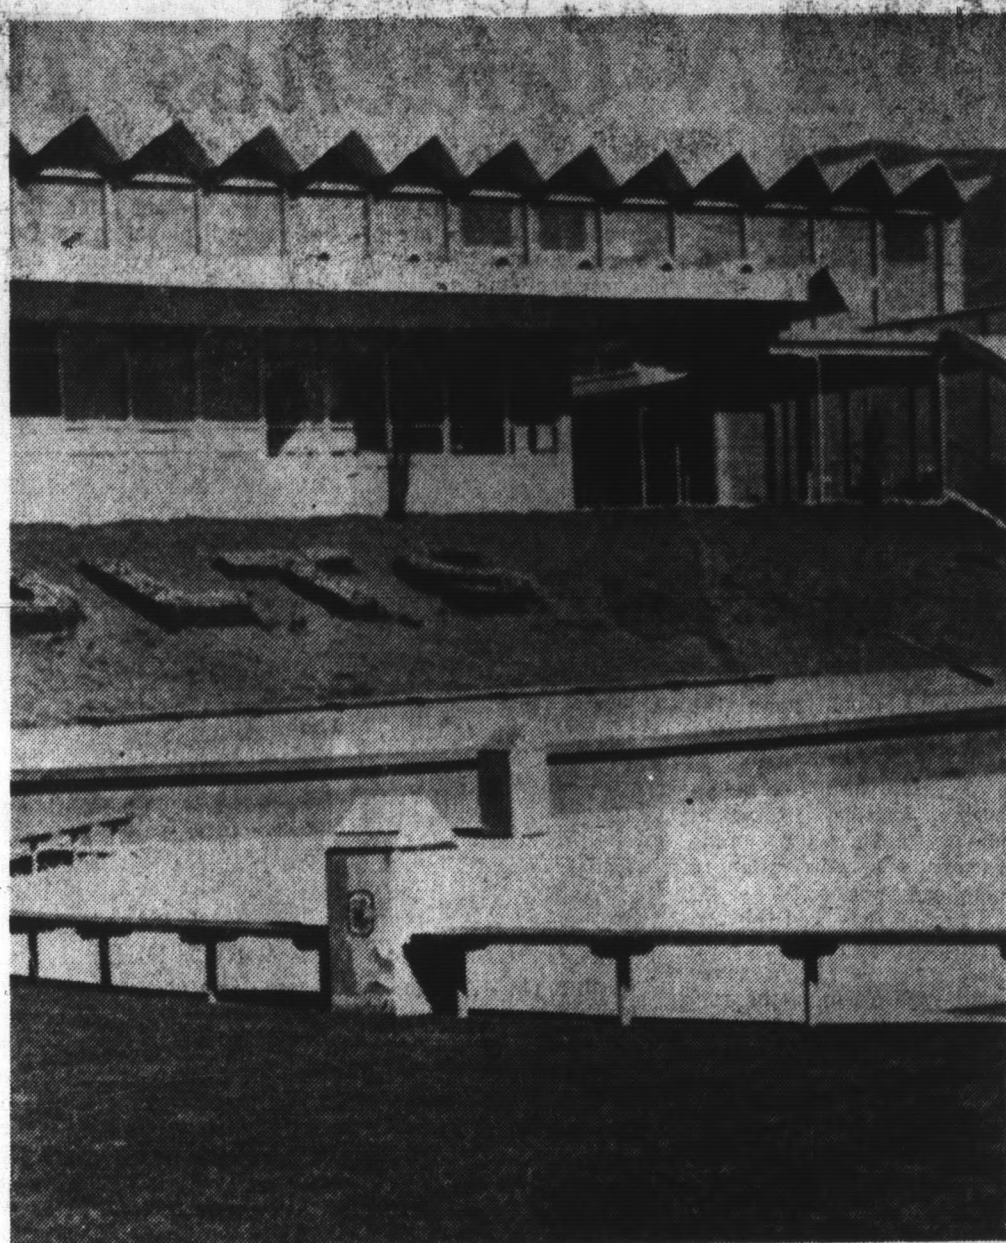

Additional film possibilities are the screen version of "Baker Street," now on Broadway and "Private Life of Sherlock Holmes" for Billy Wilder and the Mirisch Corporation. The estate is also contemplating three more films as sequels to "A Study in Terror."

My childhood is inexorably linked with Sherlock Holmes, both by book and film, but I was amazed to learn that there are 106 Holmes pictures, including 17 versions of "Hound of the Baskervilles." Twelve of these older films with Basil Rathbone and Nigel Bruce are now being reissued on American television.

His "Lost World" was made in 1960 and the Sir Nigel company is already considering a film based on "White Company."

TRUSTEE OF the estate is Adrian Conan Doyle, who is also chairman of Sir Nigel films. He directs these activities from St. Paul de Vence on the French Riviera and an Eleventh Century castle near Lausanne in Switzerland.

El Camino High School

EL CAMINO High School at 1320 Mission Road in South San Francisco opened in September of 1962 with an enrollment of 560 students in the ninth and tenth grades. In 1963, enrollment jumped to 900, three buildings were added and the school had a freshman, sophomore and senior class. In 1964, El Camino became a full-fledged high school, graduating a class of 240 pupils. Music facilities were added and enrollment rose to 1,150 students. The school is designed for a capacity of 1,500. Robert Keropian, former principal of the South San Francisco Unified School District's night school, has been El Camino's principal since the school opened.

Better Business

'Bait 'n Switch' Top the Rackets

Lorene Beasley

According to year end reports received from local Better Business Bureaus throughout the country, the use of "bait and switch" tactics has become the number ONE consumer gyp.

The National Better Business Bureau defines "bait and switch" as "the offering at a spectacularly low price a brand-name product or service the seller is determined not to sell if he can possibly avoid it."

The salesman's job is to "unsell" the customer, lured by the ad, from one product to another higher priced item. Although such tactics to sell overpriced merchandise has been used over many years to sell a broad range of products—including sewing machines, carpeting, furniture, appliances, tires, vacuum cleaners, etc.

THE INCREASED use of "bait and switch" advertising in the retail selling of freezer meats caused this scheme to head the list of the top ten rackets in the country.

Debt consolidation, sometimes referred to as debt pooling, was the fastest growing money lending racket in 1965.

Debt consolidation firms do not assume the consumer's obligation of debts, nor prevent the attachment of his wages.

They take the consumer's salary and, after a fee (usually high) pay the bills. Widespread publicity by Better Business Bureaus greatly reduced this form of "super-usury," which was being practiced by unlicensed second mortgage brokers and other unethical firms.

Home improvement swindling, an all season racket, usually hits its peak in the spring. The "Terrible Williamsons" operate every spring in San Mateo County.

Last year, they had a record year in home and driveway repairs. Such itinerant repairmen cost the unwary public $500 million yearly, leaving in their wake inferior jobs with no guarantees.

IN ANY HOME remodeling job, certain steps should be taken by the consumer for self-protection against legally having to pay for duplication of work.

No completion slip should be signed until the work is finished to satisfaction and the contractor has presented affidavits that subcontractors, laborers and materials have been paid.

The self-styled "tree experts" who move from job to job often do irreparable damage to trees.

Homeowners should be on guard against these phony operators who ring doorbells to solicit tree work business. In all possibility, if he is an itinerant, he will be far away by the time his chicanery has been discovered.

VICTIMIZING THE AGED: The aged are the unfortunate targets of sophisticated promoters who prey upon their loneliness, fears and financial problems. This callous exploitation of the aged has become a major national problem and already has been the subject of two Senate Committee investigations.

The latest "confidence game" directed at elderly people has been conducted by swindlers posing as bank officials.

Loss to elderly women depositors reportedly range from $1,800 to $8,000 and represent life savings to a great many of the victims.

Pacific Parade

Some Surprises At the Village

Don Miller

JUST WHEN you think you know it all about a subject, along comes a guy who talks a while and you find you weren't so knowledgeable after all.

The case in point is the Midway Village housing project in the Bayshore area of Daly City, owned and operated by the San Mateo County Housing Authority for Navy personnel stationed at Hunter's Point Shipyard, and their families.

Frank Bloom, the distinguished-looking gentleman who directs the authority's activities, cleared up a few vague points about Midway Village the other day in a talk before the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce.

He was there at the invitation of chamber directors who wanted to find out what were the future plans—if any—for the project. For the chamber is interested in luring light industries to the city and some members feel the Bayshore area might have the space.

AFTER EXPLAINING there are no plans for a change in the project's status, Bloom delved into some of the history of Midway Village and the housing authority he directs. And some of what he said was news to us.

Like, did you know that even though the authority is a public entity set up by the state, not everybody can move into Midway Village.

In fact, it's reserved exclusively for military personnel and their dependents—and almost all of the family bread-winners are stationed at Hunter's Point.

Because of the transient nature of any service branch, the housing project has a 10 per cent turnover, which Bloom admitted was "very great" and which he said added considerably to the cost of administering the project.

Yet—and this was the real surprise of his talk, not only to us but several chamber directors as well—apartments in Midway Village rent for $52.60 to $67 a month, depending on the number of bedrooms, and the rent includes all utilities and basic furnishings.

WHEN THE directors had digested that one, Bloom came up with another stunner. Even with the low rents, the authority has been able to accumulate enough excess rent over costs (Bloom called it "operational surplus") to pay the Navy for the land and the 436 apartments.

The Navy once owned the whole business and when it decided to get out of the landlord business in Bayshore in 1955, it sold Midway Village to the housing authority. The Navy, Bloom said, had just about been able to meet expenses in its operation.

The housing authority also has been able—out of that operational surplus—to build a senior citizen project in Half Moon Bay.

And without any tax support, Bloom said. "In fact, we're the only entity of its kind in the state that has been able to build a project like that without tax support."

FOR SOME of the history and a few poignant facts and figures on Midway Village, they go like this:

The project was built by the Navy in 1945. It covers 19 acres and the youngster population averages about two and a half children per apartment unit.

Based on payroll checks that are cashed to pay rents, the housing authority estimates the people of Midway Village spent between $80,000 and $100,000 monthly in the area in which they live.

Midway Village, Bloom said, also serves as a community center. Its community hall is home to meetings for Boy and Girl Scout organizations and a few years ago served as home base for a College of San Mateo sewing class.

The housing authority itself is a pretty independent affair. It was created by state law and—in the words of Bloom—"we're not answerable to anybody else." Commissioners are appointed by the Board of Supervisors but are not answerable to them.

The likelihood of the authority growing very much, that is building more public housing in San Mateo County, is pretty small, according to Glenn Weman, Bloom's assistant, who also attended the chamber meeting.

Weman explained that a survey in 1959 (and he added that it was a "costly survey") showed that San Mateo County was not in need of public housing.

Not, except, here in the North County, where Midway Village serves what the Navy says is a real need.

And that need, at least from what Bloom had to say the other day, is obviously being well taken care of. In fact, we can't fault the gentleman at all for being a bit prideful when, after rattling off all those surprising "operational surplus" figures, he noted:

"Midway Village is the largest—and pardon me for saying so—the best housing project around."

WE WOULD hesitate to say that a lot of people in Daly City and Pacifica are in hook but, how are you going to explain away a Bank of America news release that came across our desk the other day that says:

"Both cities have a ratio of one BankAmericard holder out of every ten residents, compared to a state-wide average of one in every 14 Californians."

In fact, the release went on cheerily to say that the Peninsula helps lead the way in the state in the percentage of people holding the cards.

But take heart, Daly City and Pacifica. You're not champs in this dubious derby. The folks down in Menlo Park are the pacemakers.

One in every seven Menlans holds a card—which would indicate that our South County cousins are pretty well sold on the buy now, pay later bit.

American Negro In Literature

Samuel Chandler

IN HIS STRUGGLE against indifference and racial bigotry, the Negro of America has filled his literature with his great desire to become a full-fledged citizen.

His literature is a purposeful thing—an outlet for his frustration and for his demands. It is vigorous and plain, yet some is musical and full of imagery.

For example, here is a paragraph from Ted Poston who studied in Booker T. Washington Grammar School, but who did not adopt the theories of the great teacher:

"There never was any doubt about Prince Charming and Sleeping Beauty—they were always light-skinned. And though nobody ever discussed those things openly, it was an accepted fact that a lack of pigmentation was a decided advantage in the Prince Charming and Sleeping Beauty sweepstakes.

"Therein lay my personal tragedy—I made the best grades in my class; I was the leading debater and the scion of a respected family in the community—but I could never be Prince Charming because I was black."

ALTHOUGH Poston graduated from Tennessee State College and studied at New York University and became the public consultant for the National Advisory Defense Commission, he never overcame the tragedy.

He never forgot that he was black. In some of his works he tried to be philosophical about his color; in others, he voiced resentment for his color against a society that makes pigmentation a factor—even against a creator that made some men one color and some another.

A. P. Randolph, the labor leader, shares Poston's views. In a speech explaining a strike of railroad porters during World War II, he voices the thinking of his race:

"Though I have found no Negroes who want to see the United Nations lose this war, I have found many who, before the war ends, want to see the stuffing knocked out of white supremacy and of empire over subject peoples."

After World War II, a generation of Negro writers arose who were less philosophical than men like Ted Poston and more ready to fight than even Randolph. They cry for revenge.

Theirs is a voice of hate, or bitter resentment, or extreme cynicism. Malcolm X in his autobiography and in his "The Negro Protest" speaks for the most radical of them.

Ralph Ellison and James Baldwin represent the less resentful, yet determined authors. Martin Luther King and Anna Bon-temps, Langston Hughes and Richard Wright, are among the leaders who are defining and expressing the Negro's point of view and thinking.

ONE OF THE most useful books referring to the Negro in America is a 1963 publication by Langston Hughes and Milton Meltzer entitled, "A Pictorial History of the Negro in America."

The first chapter is the prologue entitled, "What is a Negro?" People who type Negroes are in for a surprise when they read this prologue.

The rest of the book delineates the history of the Negro in America from 1619 to the present time.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

YOU ARE GOING to think I've bought stock in a rice company, because this week, just as last week, I am going to give you a recipe for a rice casserole. This week's casserole evolved from left-over rice and the desire to be frugal and use it up.

As I went along, mixing and fixing, adding and subtracting and generally enjoying myself creating this dish, I wrote it all down, for I expected it to be good. It was better than good, it was delicious.

After I'd created this dish, there came the problem of a name. Will you forgive me for being coy and calling it "Nice Spice Rice"? You won't? Oh, well, give it a try anyway for it's mighty good.

NICE SPICE RICE

- 1 lb. ground meat
- 1 med. onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- Salt and pepper
- 1 can tomato sauce
- 1 cup water
- 1 can chili-beef soup
- 40 pitted olives
- 2 1/2 cups cooked rice
- Monterey cheese

Brown the meat, add the onion and minced garlic. Cook until the onion is tender and transparent. Salt and pepper to taste. Combine tomato sauce, chili beef soup, add to meat mixture. Pour the cup of water in the tomato sauce can, swirl around, then to the soup can, swirl and add to meat and soup. In a large bowl mix the cooked rice, olives and blended meat and soup mixture. Blend well and pour into a large casserole.

Top with strips of Monterey cheese. Cover and bake in 350-degree oven about 30 minutes or until bubbly hot.

You may have guessed that olives are a great favorite in my family. If you and yours are not so fond of olives cut the amount. Another thing, I used dried minced garlic, it saves a lot of trouble and is quite good.

WITH THIS CASSEROLE I served garlic French bread and a coleslaw. Cabbage, grated carrots, thinly sliced leeks, parsley and a sharp dressing combined to make a very tasty slaw.

Since I had a large head of cabbage, this used just half the head, presenting me with the question of how to use that other half head of cabbage. (And I'm being frugal, remember?) Of course I could have shredded it, steamed it and served it with butter, salt and pepper. But I wanted something different.

Since I'd served the casserole and slaw on Tuesday by this Sunday enough time had passed for me to march the cabbage to the table again under a new form. And here is the form it assumed.

CABBAGE SOUFFLE SALAD

- 1 family size pkg. lemon gelatin
- 2 cups hot water
- One and three-fourths cup cold water
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 Tbsp. vinegar
- 1 cup mayonnaise
- 4 cups finely shredded cabbage

Mix the gelatin with the hot water. Stir until completely dissolved and then add cold water. Mix well and place in refrigerator to chill until syrupy.

Remove from refrigerator, add mayonnaise, vinegar and salt. Stir well. Beat with electric mixer until fluffy. Fold in cabbage and return to refrigerator and chill. This makes a large salad which would serve ten or more.

AS YOU LOYAL READERS know, cookie baking is my favorite form of baking. And last weekend I poured through books and files to find something new to try and came up with these corn meal cookies. My family thinks they are delicious and I think your family would like them, too. The corn meal gives them an unusual texture that you will find most appealing.

CORN MEAL COOKIES

- 1 cup shortening
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon lemon extract
- 1/2 cup raisins, chopped
- Two and three-fourths cups cake flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup yellow corn meal

Cream shortening, add sugar, eggs and lemon extract. Beat well. Dredge raisins in flour (using 1/2 cup of the flour) and add to creamed mixture.

Sift remaining flour, baking powder, nutmeg, salt and corn meal together and add to creamed mixture. Mix thoroughly. (This makes a rather dry mixture and requires a bit of mixing.) Roll into size of walnuts and place on greased cookie sheet. Flatten with a fork and sprinkle lightly, very lightly, with sugar.

Bake 10 to 12 minutes in a 400-degree oven. Keep an eye on the baking, check at 10 minutes. Makes about 60 two-inch cookies.

AAUW and Fleishhacker Sponsor Faculty Fund

The American Association of University Women, in co-operation with the Fleishhacker Foundation, has started a fund for the College Faculty Program of California.

The Fleishhacker Foundation has made a donation of $2,000 to begin the fund.

A second donation has come from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Pacific Coast Area.

California Division of AAUW is introducing this program to the California public.

Many of the 136 branches of AAUW in California are participating in the College Faculty Program at present.

The program has been extended to California after concluding, in June 1965, a successful three-year demonstration in 11 southeastern states. In that period, 126 Southern women achieved their goals and are either studying or teaching in accredited colleges and universities.

This demonstration program was financed by the Rockefeller Brothers Foundation. In California, as in other interested states, money for scholarships must be raised within the state.

Mrs. Fineman will also provide all guests with the baking demonstration.

A 50-cent admission is required which will cover necessary materials. Refreshments will be served.

Hamantashen bake-off serves as the first affair the Orah chapter has planned for 1966 and will follow with more events in the coming months.

Coast Performing Group Plans Upcoming Offerings

Sponsoring members of Pacific Association of Performing Arts laid plans for cultural offerings to Pacifica at a recent meeting.

P.A.P.A. expects to provide monthly performances through out the winter and spring. The program committee is outlining a varied program, including chamber music, barber-shop singing, a puppet theater, a children's instrumental band, vocal and instrumental soloists.

Performances will be given in the Cultural Room of the Pacifica Library on Hilton Way, or in school multi-purpose rooms.

In some cases, admission will be charged to cover the cost. Another series of Outdoor Fall Concerts is being planned which will be free to the public.

"The success of the proposed schedule of programs will be dependent on the response of the public as well as their support as sponsors," according to Mr. Jean Donohue, new president of the group.

Mrs. Donohue fills the post vacated by Mel Davis, former Assistant City Manager who left Pacifica to become City Manager of Sebastopol.

Sponsor memberships are welcomed by groups of individuals.

Further information may be received by calling Mrs. Donohue, at 359-0677, or Rod Linhares at 359-4465.

MARDI GRAS time is nigh upon us and the parishioners of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church are all prepared to hold their own pre-Lenten festival this coming weekend.

According to Mrs. Dorothy Bergin, publicity chairman for the church, this annual event is staged to aid the Church Improvement Fund and every type of booth and game is available to entertain those donating to the fund.

Heading the executive committee for the Mari Gras is Father David I. Walsh. Assisting with the preparations for the three-day celebration are Mrs. Edward Nolan, investment; John Muller, hall setup; Joseph Valcazar, decorations; Mrs. Louella Flaherty, goldfish; Mrs. Richard Holmberg, records; Mrs. Nati Daniele, groceries; Mrs. Ben Parodi, cakes; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hettel, children's treats; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Denning, sports booth; Mr. and Mrs. O. Walter Mignault, jaro booth; Richard Holmberg, string pull; Wayne Bascome, children's booth; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Harvey, liquor booth; Mrs. Ann Drury and the first grade mothers, kitchen; and Mrs. Mary Lou Foster, surprise package.

While the booths and games will be in full swing Friday, Saturday and Sunday, dinner will be served the final day, Sunday, only between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m., Mrs. Bergin reports.

TWO ART EXHIBITS by Pacifica residents are worth noting this month.

"Drawings of Children and Painting for Them," is the title of the one woman show being given by Mrs. Connie Hegedus, in the Sharp Park branch of the Pacifica Library. The exhibit features watercolors, pastels and sketches, centered around a theme of fairy tales and nursery rhymes and it's great fun for adults and children. (Daily from 10 a.m. until 9 p.m. and Saturdays from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.)

Mrs. Ann Eckles is the featured artist in the one woman show currently on exhibit at Kemper's Dal-Pac Gallery in Pacific Manor. Mrs. Eckles work includes land and sea scapes as well as abstract oils.

THE RECENT PRODUCTION of "The Drunkard," staged by the Temple Judea, was made doubly enjoyable by the very fine performances of a rather anonymous group performing under the billing of Olio Acts.

Organized and trained by Joan Klien of Westlake, members of the Olio group staged a variety of acts before the show and during the intermissions.

Linda Taylor, Vivian Kaplan, Janet Weinberg and Joanne Lehmann, all Westmoor High School students, proved to be apt students and Mrs. Klien had them perform a delightful Can Can before the opening curtain and do another stint as the Beach Girls during the first intermission.

Others adding their talents to the Olio Acts were: Don Goodman, Esther Lehman and Mrs. Klien, Larry Nissin, Lois Gruen, Eve Gordsky, Fred Agness, Paul Chernock, Ed Greenspun, Rube Pincus, Rose Greenspun, Ben Roth and Lillian Lever.

A young Swiss-born conductor, Ulrich Meyer, will be the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra's guest conductor in opera house concerts this week.

Meyer, who recently became an American citizen, is a protégé of Maestro Josef Krips, the orchestra's conductor and musical director, and is currently serving as assistant conductor with the Buffalo Philharmonic.

Library Friends to Hold Review of 'The Hobbit'

Of interest to those in the community who like unusual books of fantasy will be the February 24 Book Review sponsored by the Friends of the Daly City Library.

Mrs. Brewer, who now resides in Mill Valley, has written book and theater reviews for local papers and also for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Mrs. Brewer's subject will be "The Hobbit" by J. R. R. Tolkien and his trilogy, "The Lord of the Rings."

All four books are laid in one of the most completely developed fantasy worlds in modern literature. It is a land where men and dwarfs and elves and—most important—V-Hobbits, combine forces to fight evil.

There are also goblins and trolls, and in "The Hobbit" and evil dragon who guards the gold belonging to the dwarfs. There are wizards, talking birds and wolves.

Quoting from the New York Herald Tribune Book Week, Loren Eiseley says, "The great tale of wonder, like the great novel, is not a preoccupation of children... the adult mind

Almonds in New Meatless Entree

Meatless main dishes are indispensable in well rounded recipe collections — especially when they are as tasty and elegant as "Crab-Stuffed Peppers Almondine."

Roasted diced almonds give delightful crunch and flavor to the crab meat and rice stuffing for the green peppers, served with green beans and onion rings.

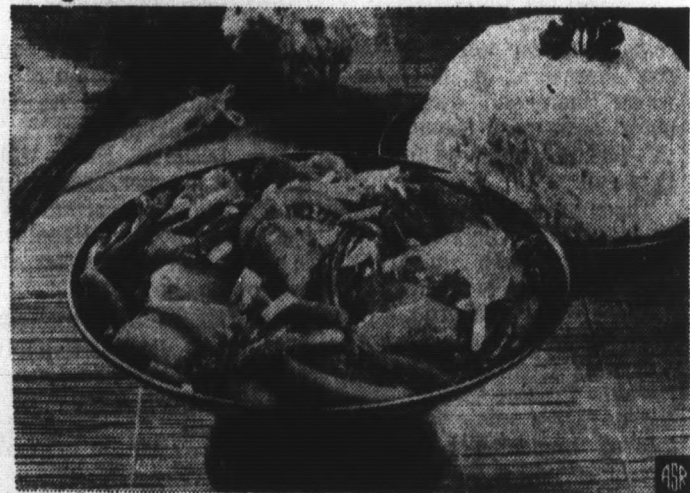

Almonds in various forms — diced, sliced, halved or whole — contribute new flavor rewards to a host of stuffings, fish and meat sauces, seafood casseroles, vegetable dishes, salads and desserts. And for out-of-hand eating, they are a nut in a class to themselves, providing a wealth of B vitamins and some iron, calcium and protein.

Crab-Stuffed Peppers Almondine

1 cup roasted diced almonds 1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups cooked rice 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 can (7 1/2 oz.) crab meat, flaked 6 medium-size green peppers
1/2 cup lemon juice 2 cans (10 3/4 oz. each) condensed tomato soup
1 teaspoon salt 1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon dill weed 1/2 cup milk

Combine almonds, rice, crab meat, lemon juice, salt and dill weed. Melt butter; add onion and sauté lightly. Add to rice mixture. Remove stem ends, seeds and membranes from peppers. Cook peppers in boiling salted water 5 minutes, or until tender-crisp; drain. Fill with rice mixture; set upright in baking dish. Combine soup and milk and pour around peppers. Bake in 375-degree (moderately hot) oven 25 minutes.
Makes 6 servings.

A Recipe Inspired By Exotic Cuisine

Exotic Japanese cuisine inspired "Scallops and Beans Nipponese," a tempting seafood-and-vegetable melange served with fluffy rice for a memorable meatless meal.

The beans are Blue Lakes, a distinct variety of pole bean developed especially for canning and sold under many different brand names. Blue Lakes are grown in the ideal climate of water-blessed Oregon and Washington. Stringless, straight and tender with firm, juicy pods, they enhance any number of main dishes, vegetable combinations, soups and salads. Heated in their own liquid and seasoned to taste, they are a fast-to-fix companion for fish and meat.

Scallops and Beans Nipponese

1 package (10 oz.) frozen fried scallops 1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 can (1 lb.) whole Blue Lake green beans 1 tablespoon cold water
2 vegetable bouillon cubes 2 large tomatoes
(optional) 1/2 cup toasted slivered almonds
1 large onion 1/2 cup steamed rice
1 cup thinly sliced celery

Heat scallops as package directs. Drain liquid from beans into saucepan; add bouillon cubes. Peel onion; slice lengthwise. Add with celery to saucepan. Simmer 7 to 10 minutes or until vegetables are barely tender. Moisten cornstarch in water; stir into saucepan and cook until thickened. Add soy sauce. Peel tomatoes; cut into wedges. Add hot scallops, beans and tomatoes to saucepan. Cook just until thoroughly heated. Season to taste with monosodium glutamate. Sprinkle with almonds. Serve with rice.
Makes 3 or 4 servings.

Lemon and Peach Pie for a Sunday

Always looking for a Sunday-best dessert to serve? So are we! Here's a dandy dessert that's frivolous in looks and taste, but is easy enough to make on a busy weekday. The perfect beginning to any pie is the crust and this one is no exception. The difference here is the flour—it's the new instant blending flour that takes all the panic out of pastry. With it, the pastry ingredients can be combined with an electric mixer; the dough is ready in an instant and ready for baking flaky and tender. Two canned pie fillings, one peach, one lemon, are layered in the crust and the whole capped with dairy sour cream and brown sugar. A tasty ending to any meal!

Lemon 'n Peach Layer Pie

Pie Crust:

1/2 cup cold water 1 1/2 cups instant blending flour
1/2 cup shortening 1/2 teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients in order listed in small mixer bowl. Mix on lowest speed, scraping sides of bowl, until dough begins to form, about 30 seconds. Shape into a firm ball. Flatten; smooth edge. Flour generously on both sides. Roll out to 1/4-inch thickness on well-floured surface. Trim to a circle 1 1/4 inches larger than inverted piepan. Fit into pan. Flute edge as desired.

Pie Filling:

1 No. 2 can (2 cups) lemon pie filling 1 cup dairy sour cream
1 No. 2 can (2 cups) peach pie filling 1/4 cup brown sugar

Oven: 425° Yield: 9-inch pie

Spread lemon pie filling in pie shell. Top with peach pie filling. Bake at 425° for 30 minutes. Combine sour cream and brown sugar; spread on top of pie. Return to oven for two minutes. Chill.

Give the Family Chance to Change

If your family thinks they don't like spinach, give them a chance to change their minds by serving them luscious, custardy squares of oven-baked spinach. Just a hint of cheese and onion makes it extra special, and will have them coming back for more. Basis for this good dish is an exceptionally rich-tasting cream sauce, made the sure and easy way with the new non-dairy creamer, Pream. This convenient-to-use, non-perishable powdered creamer makes the preparation of superb sauces for vegetables and casseroles a simple matter, and contributes richness of flavor at but a fraction of the calories of fresh cream.

Spinach Cheese Squares

2 10-ounce packages frozen chopped spinach ½ cup new non-dairy Pream
4 tablespoons butter 2 cups boiling water
1 small onion, finely chopped 1 cup grated American cheese
4 tablespoons flour 1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, slightly beaten ¼ teaspoon pepper

Cook spinach as package directs; drain and set aside. In a heavy-bottomed saucepan, melt butter over low heat until frothy. Add onion and sauté until soft and golden brown. Blend in flour with wire whip; cook and stir 1 minute without coloring. Add Pream, then boiling water all at once, and beat with wire whip to blend. Increase heat to moderately high; cook and stir until sauce comes to the boil and thickens. Add cheese and seasonings, stirring until cheese melts. Remove from heat, add beaten eggs and drained spinach, blending well. Turn into a buttered, shallow 1½-quart baking dish. Set in pan of hot water; bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 30 to 40 minutes, or until custard is set. Garnish if desired with hard-cooked eggs. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Frozen Apple Juice Recipes Versatile

More unusual recipes using frozen apple juice as a prime ingredient have just been released by test kitchens. The new pure juice continues to win friends as a delightful and healthy beverage, but is also proving its versatility in a group of interesting new recipes.

Fresh frozen apple juice is an important and long-awaited addition to the grocer's freezer cabinet. Made in the heart of Washington state's famous apple country, the new juice is pure with no sugar added.

Frosty Apple Sherbet

1½ cups milk (or cream)
¼ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 can frozen apple juice concentrate (6 oz.)
2 egg whites

Heat milk, sugar, corn syrup and salt, stirring constantly, in medium-size saucepan, just until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat.

Stir in frozen concentrated apple juice and lemon juice. (Mixture may look curdled but will disappear when frozen.) Pour into two ice-cube trays or pan 8 by 8 by 2; freeze, stirring several times. Freeze for about two hours, or until firm.

Beat egg whites until they stand in firm peaks in small bowl.

Spoon sherbet into a chilled large bowl, beat until fluffy, fold in egg whites.

Return to trays; freeze two to three hours longer, or until firm. To serve as a tangy appetizer with meat, just omit sugar from the recipe.

Apple Drop Doughnuts
1 package yeast

¾ cup frozen concentrated apple juice
¼ cup melite shortening
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs
¼ cup lukewarm water
¼ cup water
¼ cup sugar
4 cups flour

Soften yeast in warm water, pour frozen apple juice and water into large bowl. Add shortening, sugar and salt. Add about two cups flour and beat well. Add softened yeast and eggs. Beat well. Add more flour to make a stiff batter. Beat thoroughly until smooth. Cover and let rise in warm place until bubbly—about one hour. When light, stir down. Let rise while fat for deep frying is heating to 365 degrees. Drop batter with No. 30 scoop or spoonful into hot fat. Fry until golden brown—turn often. Makes about 30.

Apple Frosting

One-fourth cup soft butter, beat in one egg yolk, add alternately, two cups sifted powdered sugar, 2½ tablespoons concentrated apple juice. (For best flavor use frozen concentrated apple juice undiluted.)

Apple Glaze

Blend two cups sifted powdered sugar, one-third cup frozen concentrated apple juice. Dip warm doughnuts into glaze. Drain on rack set over waxed paper to catch icing. You can re-use the glaze that drips off.

Nonfat dry milk is the best product for increasing the amount of animal protein in the diets of one billion underfed or malnourished people of the world, says Dairy Science head at Pennsylvania State University.

County Is Concerned About BART

San Mateo County transit officials indulged in some worried speculation about what would happen to their plans if the Bay Area Rapid Transit District continues to encounter financial difficulties or fails altogether.

William M. Werder, a member of the board of the West Bay Rapid Transit Authority, raised the question and General Manager John C. Lilly replied that the effect would be considerable. Werder suggested that, if necessary, the authority ask the state legislature for an extension of its January 1, 1969, deadline.

It is the intention of the San Mateo County group to co-ordinate its transit system proposal to the greatest extent possible with the Bay Area system.

Chairman William Lawton declared that the great disparity between BART's estimates of the cost of major projects and the actual bid prices was the result of over-optimism on the part of BART officials.

"The effort to sell BART to the people undoubtedly brought out optimistic estimates," Lawton asserted. "We should be very sure that we are not subject to the same criticism at a later date."

Member James V. Fitzgerald said he was "shocked" by a report by one of the authority's consultants, the DeLeuw-Cather Company, on the transit system in the Seattle area, with which it was involved.

Fitzgerald noted that, although the transit trains there can go 80, they only average 36 miles an hour. He also pointed to what he called extremely high costs of the operation.

Fitzgerald suggested that the authority's consultants be specifically advised to study the possibilities of air and water transit systems, to save the expense of acquiring right of ways and the additional cost of taking property off of the tax rolls.

CSM Chief Named To Committee

Dr. Julio L. Bortolazzo, president of College of San Mateo, is one of six leading college administrators serving on the Northern California Advisory Committee of Bank of America's 1966 Junior College Business Awards program.

The committee, which has a counterpart in Southern California, consults with bank officials about operating the annual program which sees some $28,000 awarded to outstanding junior college students throughout the state.

Two students from each of the 70-plus participating schools receive a cash award of $200 and a certificate of merit. One award goes to a student majoring in banking or business administration, the other to a student majoring in the secretarial or clerical fields.

Individual school faculties select the winners on the basis of scholarship, extracurricular activities, and personal qualities.

The winners, including a pair from College of San Mateo, will be honored at a March 17 banquet in the San Francisco Hilton Hotel.

Purpose of the program is to recognize the opportunities existing in the business world; to emphasize the importance of the business curriculum, and to encourage consideration of business as a career.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

After eating food containing sugar or carbohydrates, acid begins forming in your mouth. You should brush your teeth within fifteen minutes after eating before the acid has a chance to damage the enamel.

Use a tooth brush with a small head. Take time: Give the toothpaste a chance to work.

Brush down on upper teeth. Brush up on lower teeth. Force bristles into spaces between the teeth while brushing inner and outer surfaces.

Use scrubbing motion when brushing the chewing surfaces.

If you cannot brush your teeth after eating, you should rinse your mouth thoroughly with water.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit the practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to keep the use of your natural teeth as even as the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Recreation Needs Okayed by Council

To keep pace with the growth of Daly City and the needs of the community the City Council has approved a reorganization of the Department of Recreation.

That reorganization neared the completion stage this week with the final addition of new personnel. These new members of the Department of Recreation will allow broader programming and coverage of Daly City by the department.

Joining the staff, under the direction of Charles E. Vincent, are the following individuals: Patricia Lessard, Pete Vallarino and Mickey Corso.

Miss Lessard is a graduate of San Jose State College who recently returned from 2 1/2 years with Special Services in Germany and France. Miss Lessard has also worked with the San Mateo, San Jose, Oakland, and Berkeley Recreation Departments.

Pete Vallarino is a graduate of San Jose State College who formerly held the position of program director for the Visitation Valley Community Center and has worked for the Oakland and Walnut Creek Recreation Departments, the Pleasant Hills Recreation District and Lafayette School District.

Mickey Corso is a graduate of San Francisco State College who majored in physical education and has worked for the South San Francisco Recreation Department for seven years.

Miss Lessard will supervise girls and women's activities, cultural activities, special events and will work with the senior citizens groups.

Vallarino will supervise teen activities, and special interest groups. Corso will supervise athletics.

This division of responsibility replaces the former structure of general recreation and youth activities.

The new supervisors will work with Ed Tomasello, general supervisor of recreation, in expansion of the present program.

It was announced by Mrs. Robert O. (Leslie) Appleton, division chairman.

Recommend Continuation High School

A Continuation High School to be opened in the Fall of 1966 with an estimated enrollment of 250 students was the recommendation of a study committee to the Jefferson Union High School trustees last week.

Committee chairman, Oceana Principal Ernest Ribera, said that the school should be on a separate site, but be part of and have close liaison with the high school district. The 20 page report was given to members of the board for study.

Ribera brought out that the law requires every high school district to have a continuation education program. The report was compiled by 13 appointed district representatives.

In other business, Superintendent Edward Morgan clarified the status of unsold bonds following district unification. He said that Deputy District Attorney Jerome Coleman gave the opinion that any unsold bonds become the property of the new district and could be used for sites, improvements or buildings, etc.

Coast C of C Described As 'In the Black'

The Pacifica Chamber of Commerce was described as "in the black" with 89 members at last week's luncheon meeting at the Sea Bowl Restaurant.

President Stanley vander Hule also announced the hiring of a new secretary-receptionist, Joan Ellison.

Three new projects were described by committee members: Test questions will be distributed to local families asking, "What is wrong with shopping in Pacifica?"

Dates for a Pacifica Clean-up Week have been set from April 1 to 10.

JESD Will Hold Summer School Again

The Jefferson Elementary School District will hold summer school classes this year after classes were cancelled for the district last year.

Plans are being made for a "vast expansion" of the program, according to Superintendent Frank Greenwood.

He described the re-institution of summer school following approval of the $3-million bond issue.

"We are going to move in on the children who are one year behind," Greenwood stated.

Remedial and corrective summer classes in reading and arithmetic for all grades will be instituted. These will be small groups restricted to 12 to 15 children who are recommended by teachers.

In addition to the summer school, 18 remedial teachers will be hired for the regular school program. Greenwood said, to catch the children who are lagging.

Greenwood also described a special summer school program for gifted children. This program will be based on teacher recommendation and an I.Q. of 130 or higher, and will provide enrichment subjects.

Plans also call for a general program to be offered to any child during the summer in grades one to seven. Included will be classes in corrective physical education.

"If our plans are carried out," Greenwood said, "this will be one of the most extensive programs given anywhere in the state." It will provide for about 3,000 children.

New Planning Head Elected

Daly City's Planning Commission has a new head man. At their meeting last week, members elected commissioner Richard T. Dwyer as chairman.

McRobert L. Stewart was chosen as secretary.

A Builder's Artist Wife

AT AN AGE when most people are well immersed in retirement plans, Mrs. Henry Doelger has found herself rushing headlong into a new career—art.

Born in Iowa in 1898, Mrs. Doelger (then Thelma Allen Tharp) moved with her mother and Army officer father to the Philippines, where she spent her childhood and teens. As a young woman she returned to the United States and settled down to a comfortable life of domesticity, keeping house for her husband, the prominent Bay Area builder, and raising two children.

Until six years ago, her painting was restricted to dabbling Easter egg pictures for neighborhood youngsters.

Then one day, she participated in a television show with several other women where each painted a picture anonymously chosen as the winner, and from that moment on a new artist was in the making.

She attended art classes several times weekly, working furiously under the instruction of Thomas Leighton, a man she regards as her greatest inspiration.

For two years she did nothing but draw. Only after she learned technique with pencil and charcoal did she take a brush in her hand.

SPURRED BY boundless enthusiasm, she progressed

'RUDY' is one of the paintings by Thelma Doelger (Mrs. Henry Doelger of San Francisco), which is now on exhibit at the Winblad Galleries at 1814 Union Street in San Francisco through March 11.

by leaps and bounds and started showing her work in Palo Alto and Marin shows. It won prizes and sold.

One of her most important career milestones was the sale of a painting at San Francisco's de Young Museum. Her most recent project is a one-woman art show see. I don't mix my paint much. I put the color down and leave it, so it retains clarity. Too much fussing makes colors muddy. I paint a lot with my fingers, too, softening hard lines with my fingertips."

All her paintings are realistic. "It's the kind of expression that suits me best. Some times I wonder if abstract artists would know how to do a realistic canvas. I think too many people involve themselves with fat-type art simply because they want to sell. A truly dedicated artist is not interested in money, although of course each sale serves as an inspiration."

Of her progress she notes, "An artist reaches plateaus in her work. Once, when I finished a portrait of a flamenco dancer, I cried. For the first time I accomplished everything I wanted to do in a particular painting. Of course, I'm often dissatisfied with my painting. Actually, it is a good sign, because it keeps me reaching out to the next plateau."

Painting is an intensely personal thing for this tiny (she's a petite 4-foot, 10-inch) dedicated woman. "An artist gives something of herself in each painting. With me, something comes from the soul, and my feelings are projected through the brush to the canvas."

TV Tower Hearing Is Held Over

Residents of the 800 block of Skyline Drive in Daly City may be surprised to find a 40-foot television relay tower overshadowing their back yards some day soon.

The tower, which would be built by California Cable Communications Corporation of San Francisco, would serve some 650 residents of the Westlake Terrace area who have reportedly signed up for the service.

A franchise to operate the community antenna system was granted by Daly City councilmen last July.

The Daly City Planning Commission held its second hearing on the tower last week—and, as at the first, nobody was present to dispute the tower, which would be erected under a lease on city-zoned reservoir property.

Nevertheless, commissioners voted to hold the hearing over once more—until February 23—because it had not appeared on the agenda for its meeting last week.

As Commissioner Richard T. Dwyer put it, "I wouldn't want that thing in my back yard... I'd blow my stack!"

Although City Planner Edward Lawson assured the commission that the original hearing had been well publicized, members agreed with Dwyer that one final effort should be made to be sure that neighbors know about the proposed tower.

Jeff Gets Co-ordinator

Daly City resident Robert W. Gross began work this week as the Jefferson High School District's Co-ordinator for Projects and Grants.

The district expects this staff addition to expand federal funding here.

Gross, a former Terra Nova counselor has been with the district for six years and this year is co-ordinator for the district's Adult Community Action for Basic Education Program.

He has a bachelor's and a master's degree from the University of San Francisco and resides with his wife, Irene and son, Wayne at 142 Thiers Street.

Couple Seized on Abortion Charges; Two Cases Linked

Daly City police, again working close with state agents, arrested a husband and wife on abortion charges last Wednesday.

Investigators said the arrests were linked with the arrest of two women January 26 on similar charges.

The suspects seized last week, were identified as Robert Ditsch, 35, and his wife, Claudette, 26, of 601 Teal Street in the Foster City subdivision of San Mateo.

Daly City Police Lt. Richard Sims said the arrests were made after a woman state agent posing as someone seeking an abortion, flashed a signal to waiting officers.

Keep Food Quality High

To say that this fortunate country has the finest food supply in the world is not to boast, but merely to state an established fact.

How did it get that way? What keeps up the standards? To begin with, we have a highly developed scientific agriculture, which is the backbone of our food supply. We have wide-ranging fishermen. We import exotic foods from all corners of the earth, and we help to feed a large percentage of the more needy people around the world.

The steady development of scientific farming and stock-raising, and of milk, poultry and egg production, is the beginning of our nutritional wealth. Transportation and distribution also play a large part in the regular availability of almost all foods in and out of season. So do canning, freezing, curing and other processing methods which keep food from deterioration until it is needed.

The food producers of the country have played a large part in making food available, palatable and safe. Take milk, for example, an ideal yet delicate food which is subject to spoilage. Today your milk comes to you from disease-free herds, promptly cooled, expeditiously handled, pasteurized and bottled without the touch of a human hand, and delivered to your door or store well chilled.

In similar manner, meat handling under U.S. Department of Agriculture or local health department inspection, brings you clean, safe and palatable meats and meat products. Those products under federal inspection may be graded for quality as well.

Manufactured foods like soups, cereals, mixes and the wide range of so-called TV frozen foods ready to heat and serve, are all manufactured under strict regulation. What is more important is the conscientious effort of leading manufacturers to improve and safeguard their product in every way. For the occasional purveyor who might lack a proper sense of responsibility in these matters, there are two potent substitutes — competition, and health department or federal government inspection.

The homemaker has a responsibility, too, for keeping food quality high, right in her own kitchen. Milk should be kept refrigerated except when a portion is actually being poured.

Ripe Olives Enhance An Oyster Stew

Oyster Stew California
1 tablespoon butter or a margarine
2 tablespoons water cup grated carrot
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed oyster stew
1 soup can milk cup chopped ripe olives
Dash pepper, if desired
Melt butter in saucepan; add water. Add carrot and onion. Cook a few minutes; stir often. Add soup, milk, olives, and pepper. Heat until soup thaws; stir now and then. Bring just to a boil. Makes 3 servings.

Quick Tips
"Peachy" French Toast: Sandwich 3 tablespoons mashed canned peaches between thin-sliced white bread and press firmly together. Dip and fry as for French toast, sprinkle with sugar while hot.

Broiled Fish and Cheese Submarines: Fill each toasted frankfurter bun with two or more fish sticks, a slice of cheese cut to fit, and 1 tablespoon bottled sandwich spread. Broil to melt cheese, replace top and serve hot.

New Frozen Apple Juice Has Many Applications

Frozen apple juice—that new treat in the grocer's freezer cabinet—is proving to be more than just a delightful and healthy beverage. Three special recipes just released by test kitchens reveal new and unique ways to use the frozen concentrate as a cooking ingredient and as the prime flavor for desserts and jelly.

The juice is made in the heart of the State of Washington's famous apple country with the manufacturer using only Delicious, Winesap and Jonathans. And the juice is pure, nothing added, so its exciting, fresh flavor is imparted temptingly to the Apple Jelly.

The Apple Juice Snow and

Apple Parfait are two "surprise" desserts. The "Snow" is definitely low calorie, while the delicious "Parfait" can be prepared either low-calorie or regular depending on the diet situation in the family.

With these examples of the product's versatility, it's a good idea to have several cans in the family refrigerator. Then the new frozen apple juice will be ready to serve as a healthy thirst-quencher for any member of the family, or a change-of-pace breakfast starter, or a uniquely different recipe ingredient.

Tree Top Apple Jelly
1 6-oz. can frozen concentrated apple juice (undiluted)

1½ cups water
¾ cups sugar
½ bottle Certo

Mix the measured amount of water and apple juice in saucepan; add the exact amount of sugar specified in recipe and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Stir in Certo and bring to a rolling boil. Boil hard for 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim off foam and pour quickly into glasses. Cover with hot paraffin at once. Makes 5 jelly glasses of delicious apple jelly.

Apple Juice Snow
(Low Calorie Dessert)
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup sugar

¼ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups boiling water
1 6-oz. can frozen concentrated apple juice
2 egg whites unbeaten
Mix gelatin, sugar, salt. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add frozen apple juice and stir until melted. Chill to slightly thicker than unbeaten egg white consistency. Add unbeaten egg whites and beat with rotary beater until mixture holds its shape. Turn into a 6 or 7 cup mold or individual molds and chill until firm.

Apple Parfait
1 2-oz. package of dessert topping mix — (for Low Calorie Dessert) — or —

(1 6-oz. can evaporated milk or 1 cup whipping cream)
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¾ cup water
¼ cup sugar
1 6-oz. can frozen unsweetened apple juice concentrate Sprinkle gelatin over cold water in saucepan. Stir over low heat until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat, add sugar; stir until dissolved. Add apple concentrate; stir until melted. Chill just until gelatin mixture is syrupy (about 5 minutes). Whip cream until stiff. Fold in gelatin mixture. Spoon into 1 quart mold or parfait glasses. Chill until firm.

Appetizer Snacks: Hot

These crispy, hot appetizer snacks can be started from leftover mashed potatoes as well as from nice fresh ones. Simply add a fair amount of grated cheddar cheese to mashed potatoes either warmed up to room temperature or cooled down to same. Roll into balls about the size of marbles... and marbles are pretty small; dip into melted butter; roll in crushed cereal or cracker crumbs. Bake in moderately hot, 400-degree, oven 20 minutes or until hot and crisp.

Versatility Sauce Note

Versatility is the keynote of this Sesame-Butter Sauce. It can be utilized to the flavor advantage of vegetables, fish and shellfish, broiled chicken and even steaks. This sauce can be made ahead and refrigerated ready for reheating. Melt 1 cup (2 sticks) butter in small skillet; stir in 1/4 cup sesame seeds and 2 tablespoons minced onion. Cook, stirring constantly, over medium heat until butter foams and sesame seeds are lightly browned. Pour over desired foods.

LOBSTER, SHRIMP OR CRAB in a creamy rich, milk-made curry for serving over hot, fluffy rice is company-right.

Creamy-rich, wonderful-tasting, evaporated milk-based seafood curries are succulent eating all year round. When served with hot fluffy rice and a choice of accompaniments (condiments) they are especially ideal for company dinners during Lent. This recipe for six will please the taste-buds of the most epicurean of your guests.

Condiment variety may be few or many. We suggest a choice of four or more of the following: chutney (this is a must), flaked coconut, preserved kumquats, toasted almonds or chopped peanuts, finely chopped chives or green onions, grated whites and yolks of hard-cooked eggs, raisins.

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1 medium onion, finely chopped
1 cup chopped celery
3 medium sized apples, peeled, cored and chopped
3 to 4 teaspoons curry powder

Hot Mocha Pick-Me-Up

Looking for a perfect drink to act as a pick-me-up before, during, or after housecleaning chores or to serve drop in guests? Look no further, simply try this high-in-nutrition Hot Mocha Milk as a change of pace from coffee, tea or bouillon. Place 1 teaspoon instant

1/4 teaspoon powdered marjoram
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup flour
1 pound lobster, shrimp or crab (approximately 2 cups) cooked

1 cup water
1-2-3 cups (1 tall can) evaporated milk
Over medium heat, melt butter in a large skillet. Add onion and celery and cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally, or until onion is transparent. Add apples and continue to cook until apple is tender. Remove from heat. Add curry powder, marjoram, salt, pepper and flour, and blend well. Slowly add water to skillet, blending thoroughly. Stir in evaporated milk, mixing well. Cook over medium heat until thickened, stirring occasionally. Break seafood in pieces, add to sauce and heat to serving temperature.

Delightful Vegetable Combination

A New York cook dreamed up this delightful vegetable combination.

Broiled Lamb Chops
Potatoes
Green Beans and Chick Peas
Salad Bowl Bread Tray
Fruit Compote Beverage
GREEN BEANS AND CHICK PEAS

1 pound snap beans
1 can (1 pound) chick peas
1/4 cup butter
Salt and pepper to taste
Wash the tip snap beans; cut the 1-inch long slanted crosswise pieces; turn into a saucepan. Turn the chick peas into a strainer set over a measure to drain; add enough boiling water to the chick pea liquid, if necessary, to make 1 cup; add this liquid to the snap beans. Boil, covered, until beans are tender-crisp — about 8 to 10 minutes. Several minutes before the beans have finished cooking, add the chick peas so they will heat. Drain. Add the butter with salt and pepper and reheat. Makes 6 generous servings.

Buttermilk Makes Food More Tender

Buttermilk has long been known as an ingredient that gives extra tenderness to the foods with which it is combined and this is especially true when it comes to pancakes, waffles and muffins. The family will like these; ask for repeats often.

For 12 to 16 pancakes: Beat one egg in a bowl; add 1 1/2 cups buttermilk and 2 tablespoons melted butter. Combine and sift together 1 1/4 cups sifted flour, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Add to liquid ingredients. Beat just until smooth. Bake on a lightly greased griddle or electric grill.

Turn when brown underneath. Don't wait until bubbles burst on top. Turn only once for tender texture. Serve with butter and heated syrup or one of the fine blends of California honey.

Maroon Cookie Cake

Mrs. Claudine Potts, Sylva, N.C., won a prize with this one.

MACAROON COOKIE CAKE
2 cups Pillsbury's Best Flour (instant blending or regular)

1 1/4 cups sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup buttermilk
1 cup soft shortening
3 eggs
3 envelopes pre-melted unsweetened chocolate
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Oven 350 degrees.
13x9-inch cake.
Grease and flour bottom of 13x9-inch pan. Combine all ingredients in large mixer bowl. Blend 30 seconds at low speed of mixer; beat 3 minutes at medium speed. Pour batter into pan. Carefully spoon Macaroons over batter. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes until cake springs back when lightly touched in center.

For use with Pillsbury's Best Self-Rising Flour, omit baking powder and salt; decrease soda to 1/4 teaspoon.

MACAROON
15-ounce can sweetened condensed milk
7-ounce package flaked coconut
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Combine ingredients in mixing bowl, stirring until coconut is completely coated with milk.

Instant Bismarcks

Instant Bismarcks look and taste great but are absurdly simple to make, this way.

INSTANT BISMARCKS
1/2 pound shortening
8 ounce package refrigerator biscuits
Jelly
Granulated or powdered sugar

Heat shortening slowly in a deep saucepan to 365 degrees F. as indicated on deep fat frying thermometer. Remove biscuits from package and pat into elongated oval shapes. Drop into hot fat, a few at a time, and fry 2 or 3 minutes. Turn to brown on both sides. Lift out with slotted spoon and drain on absorbent paper. When cool, make a slit in the end of each roll with a spoon and fill with about 1 teaspoon jelly. Roll in sugar.

Fresh Pear Salad Makes a Meal

A hearty Julienne Salad made refreshingly different with the addition of fresh pear wedges to the traditional ham, chicken and cheese strips. Arrange the pears and julienne strips invitingly over crisp salad greens, garnish with sliced stuffed olives and serve with an oil and vinegar dressing. All that's needed to complete the meal are warm buttered French rolls and beverage.

Any of the three popular varieties of winter pears will complement this salad. The yellow-green Anjou, juicy and tender, adds a special spiciness. The Bosc pear, distinctive with a russet skin and long tapered shape is equally delicious and adaptable. Or try the delicate textured juicy heart-shaped Comice pear.

You'll usually find fresh Western pears ripe and ready to eat at your favorite market. Ripe pears yield to gentle pressure regardless of color. You can always buy firm pears with confidence, they'll ripen at home in a few days at room temperature, becoming sweet and juicy, the way you like them.

Fresh Pear Julienne Salad

2 fresh Anjou, Bosc or Comice pears
1 cup narrow strips cooked ham
1 cup narrow strips cooked chicken
2 slices Swiss cheese, cut in strips
1 small head Romaine lettuce
2 tablespoons sliced stuffed green olives
French or Italian dressing

Cut pears in wedges and core. Arrange pear wedges with ham, chicken and cheese on top of greens which have been torn into bite size pieces. Garnish with olive slices. Serve with oil and vinegar dressing, Italian or French style. Makes 4 servings.

Alaska King Crab In Elegant Sauce

Tender Alaska King crab served in an elegant sauce is gourmet fare when surrounded by a lovely green spinach ring. The sauce is rich, creamy and delicately seasoned to bring out the luscious flavor of King crab. It's an easy dish to prepare with the appeal of a culinary treat.

Whether you choose canned or frozen Alaska King crab you can be sure of top quality. The American processors of this colorful shellfish work under careful quality control and are justly proud of their lovely tendon-free pack. This large crab, caught in Alaska's frigid waters has meat similar to lobster but with a distinctive flavor all its own. Perfectly wonderful for appetizers, cocktails, salads and glamorous dishes like King Crab Almondine.

Alaska King Crab Almondine

¾ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 pint half and half
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 lb. spinach, cooked and chopped

Stir in pimiento. Line edges of shallow baking dish with spinach. Layer crabmeat, sliced eggs and sauce in center of baking dish. Top with toasted almonds. Bake in 350 degree oven for 10 to 15 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

The base is crushed buttery crackers, coconut, butterscotch morsels and nuts. Hidden in the bottom and decorating the top of each square are round cream-filled chocolate cookies. Serve with ice cream and mugs of hot chocolate for a guaranteed fun party. Here's how:

Square Circles

56 Sunshine Hi Ho Crackers, (¾ of 10-oz. package)

A Shopping Day Special for Cook

Tack this recipe up on your kitchen bulletin board the next time you leave on a shopping trip. Even if you rush home just minutes ahead of your hungry troops, you'll be able to have this appetizing entree on the table in time. Sautéed almonds add texture to the Minute Rice; a well-seasoned cheese sauce complements the tuna. Best of all, the recipe needs no last-minute marketing. All the ingredients can be kept handy on your kitchen shelf, ready for quick cooking and serving.

Tuna Supreme on Almond Rice

1 1/2 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1/4 cup sliced or chopped almonds
2 tablespoons butter

2 teaspoons dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups (8 oz.) grated process American cheese
1/2 cup cooked green peas
2 tablespoons sliced green olives
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 can (6 1/2 or 7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked

Bring water and 1/2 teaspoon salt to a boil. Stir in rice. Cover, remove from heat, and let stand 5 minutes. Meanwhile, sauté almonds in butter until golden brown, stirring constantly. Add almonds and butter to rice, fluffing lightly with a fork. Pack rice into a well-greased 3- or 4-cup ring mold. Cover tightly with aluminum foil. Set mold in a shallow pan of hot water over very low heat for 5 to 10 minutes.

Meanwhile, combine milk, mustard, and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Scald over medium heat about 2 minutes, stirring frequently. Add cheese, peas, olives, and onion. Continue to cook, stirring constantly, until cheese melts — about 1 to 2 minutes.

Turn rice ring out onto a hot serving plate. Fill center with tuna. Then pour cheese sauce over tuna and rice. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Give a New 'Zing' To Your Vegetables

Because vegetables have such a delicate flavor, they take on new life when prepared with a little flair. A new product, Chiffon Soft-type Margarine, is perfection for cooking vegetables. Its soft consistency, so soft it spreads right from refrigerator or freezer, is due to the high content of liquid safflower oil. Here's how Chiffon can help lend vegetables new zing:

Brussels Sprouts with Lemon Sauce: Cook 2 packages frozen Brussels sprouts; drain. Melt 2 tablespoons Chiffon in pan in which vegetables were cooked; stir in 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Pour over Brussels sprouts.

Tarragon Green Beans: Cook 2 packages frozen green beans; drain. Toss vegetables with 3 tablespoons Chiffon Soft-type Margarine and 1/2 teaspoon tarragon; turn into serving dish.

Herb Grilled Tomatoes: Blend together 1/4 cup Chiffon Soft-type Margarine and 1/2 teaspoon each salt, sugar, basil and thyme, and 1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs. Halve tomatoes crosswise, spread with mixture, broil 10 minutes.

Cauliflower Parmesan: Cook 1 large cauliflower 25 minutes. Meanwhile, melt 1/4 cup Chiffon and brown 1/4 cup soft bread cubes. Remove from heat and stir in 1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese. Drain cauliflower, place on serving dish, and top with bread cube mixture.

Cheese Cookbook Has 236 Recipes

With most of the basics of cooking well covered in their various other cook books, the editors of Better Homes & Gardens have turned their attention to a subject of special interest to many of us in their newest cook book, Cooking With Cheese.

Published yesterday, it tells all about cheese; how to buy and store it, serve it, and how to use it in cooking.

In all, there are 236 recipes covering everything from appetizers to desserts. Tempting recipes such as Parmesan Omelet, Shrimp-Curried Eggs, Cheese Enchiladas, Classic Cheese Fondue, Strawberry-Glazed Cheesecake, Cheese 'n Crab Dip, and Cheese-Stuffed Mushrooms offer the cheese fancier new experiences in cheese cookery. And there are pizzas, tidbits, breads, salads, soups and sauces, too.

In addition to information on how to cook with cheese the editors have gone a step further and included a Cheese Guide to help identify and buy cheese, a section on storage tips, and an explanation of the "perfect partnership" of wine and cheese.

Scattered through the book are 67 illustrations, 58 in color which show the reader what's in store while explaining how things should be done. And a feature which will be appreciated by the practical homemaker is the washable "Kivar" cover.

Yogurt Salad Dressing Base

The smooth texture of today's yogurt plus its subtle tangy flavor makes it an ideal salad dressing base. Add to those features its low-in-calorie, high-in-milk-nutrients values and it becomes a calorie counter's delight for making this zesty salad dressing for serving over crisp salad greens or on raw or cooked vegetables.

Blend 1 cup (1/2 pint container) plain yogurt with 1 tablespoon catsup, 1 teaspoon seasoned salt and 2 teaspoons sugar or its equivalent of a low or no calorie sweetener. Add 1/2 clove finely minced garlic, 1 teaspoon finely minced parsley and about 1/4 cup finely minced onion. Refrigerate one hour or longer to blend flavors.

Coast Demos Give Bailey Endorsement

Official endorsement was given to Bruce Bailey as a State Senate candidate, following his talk before the Pacifica Democrats.

Bailey, who spoke at the Democrats' meeting at Cabrillo School, is Deputy District Attorney of San Mateo County. He will run in the primary against Robert McCarthy, and if successful, compete with Senator Richard J. Dolwig for the State Senate.

Bailey discussed the need for electronic processing methods in police departments to increase efficiency. He also touched on property taxes and smog and pollution problems.

Murphy Will Be Main Speaker at GOP Dinner

United States Senator George Murphy will be principal speaker at a $125-per-couple republican fund raising dinner to be given at the Sheraton-Thunderbolt Hotel on Saturday evening, March 26, by the United Republican Finance Committee of San Mateo County.

The dinner will honor U.S. Congressman J. Arthur Younger, State Senator Richard J. Dolwig and State Assemblyman Carl Britschgi. It will provide funds for their present campaigns, as well as provide financing for the Republican Central Committee's county-wide precinct organization and headquarters operations.

Several innovations will be introduced at the dinner, with special provisions for teen-age sons and daughters of ticket purchasers, who may attend in company with their parents or another couple for $10.

"Senator Murphy is the most sought after senator for public addresses throughout the nation, according to Bruce Mitchell, San Mateo County Central Committee chairman. "There is already a big demand for tickets."

Murphy, who is coming to San Mateo County on invitation of Congressman J. Arthur Younger, is a member of the Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare and the Public Works Committee.

The Midway Village housing project in the Bayshore area of Daly City was all but ruled out last week as a possible future site for light industry.

Spokesmen for both the San Mateo County Housing Authority, which administers the project, and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, which owns a third of the land, indicated that the present use of the property would be continued.

The report on the project's future was made at the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce.

The directors met in Val's Redroom Restaurant in Daly City. The chamber formerly had been meeting in the Friar Room of Serra Bowl.

The report had been requested by Chamber President Edward Morgan last month after director David Friedberg suggested the chamber look at the project and the Bayshore area as a possible site for light industry.

Frank Bloom, director of the housing authority, told chamber members that "we have no specific plans for any change whatsoever."

He explained that the project houses Navy personnel from the Hunter's Point Shipyard and "as long as the shipyard is there, Navy enlisted personnel are going to need the project."

Bloom's assertion that the status of the project would remain unchanged was obliquely supported by director Joseph Rohl, manager of the Daly City operations of PG&E.

Rohl said Midway Village's lease of the PG&E land runs through 1969.

He declared the company has no immediate plans for the land but that in the "foreseeable future," PG&E will need the land for the company's future growth. And he added:

"As a consequence, I cannot foresee any other use for that land now than that for which it is being used."

Guests at last week's meeting included Glenn Weman, assistant to Bloom, and Natalie Lipman, superintendent of the Bayshore School District, whose area includes Midway Village.

No Industry Planned for Midway Village

Miss Lipman praised what she said were "excellent relations" between the school district and the housing authority.

In other business, the chamber directors heard a report that a drive had resulted in 23 new members.

Donald Monson, chairman of the membership committee, said the drive would be extended a week.

Jack Kendree, chairman of a committee planning a "citizen-of-the-year award, reported that the committee wanted to hold further discussions before recommending a format for choosing an award recipient.

Vincent Murphy, chairman of the brochure committee, said that a recommendation on an industrial and-or business brochure to be published by the chamber also would be made at a future meeting.

After a report by Peter Markovich, secretary-manager of the chamber, Morgan asked that the directors' executive committee meet a half hour before the directors' next session in March to discuss the award of honorary memberships.

Markovich said the last and only honorary membership was awarded to long-time Daly City resident Arthur Bodine in 1961. He added that several councilmen and the city manager hold "complimentary" memberships.

New 'Press' For Sheets Introduced

"Permanent press" marches on.

In keeping with its stress on "permanent press," Penney's has introduced sheets with this finish at its store in the Westlake Shopping Center.

Called Fashion Manor Penn-Prest, the new sheets stay neat and wrinkle-free laundering after laundering when washed and then tumble-dried.

"The new sheets not only give a neater look to the bed, but also afford the feel of luxury," points out Penney Manager Dpn Davis.

A blend of 50 per cent Fortrel polyester and 50 per cent combed cotton, the Fashion Manor Penn-Prest sheets are reported to be stronger and longer-lasting than the best all-cotton, non-permanent press sheets.

A long period of testing by the company's Merchandise Testing Center preceded introduction of the permanent press sheets.

"Penney's, as the number one distributor of sheets in the world, had a reputation to protect," explains Davis. "We needed a product that would match or exceed the traditionally high standards of our all-cotton sheets."

Navy Faces A Shortage Of Nurses

The Navy is facing a critical shortage of nurses, according to Naval officials.

But what is a serious problem for the Navy spells "opportunity" for student and registered nurses.

At least this is the opinion of Lt. Dolores Staudenraus, Navy nurse programs officer for California, Nevada and Utah.

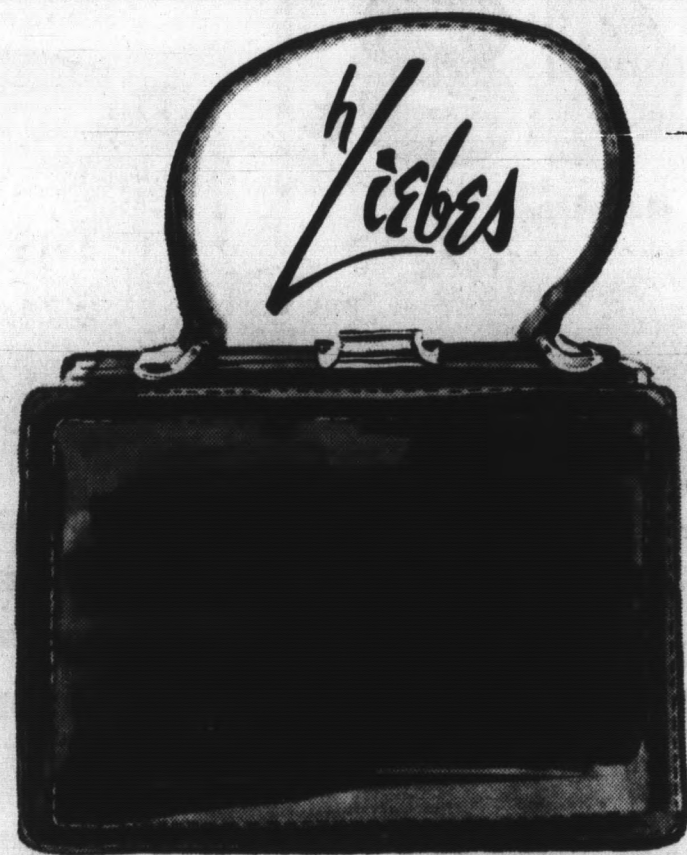

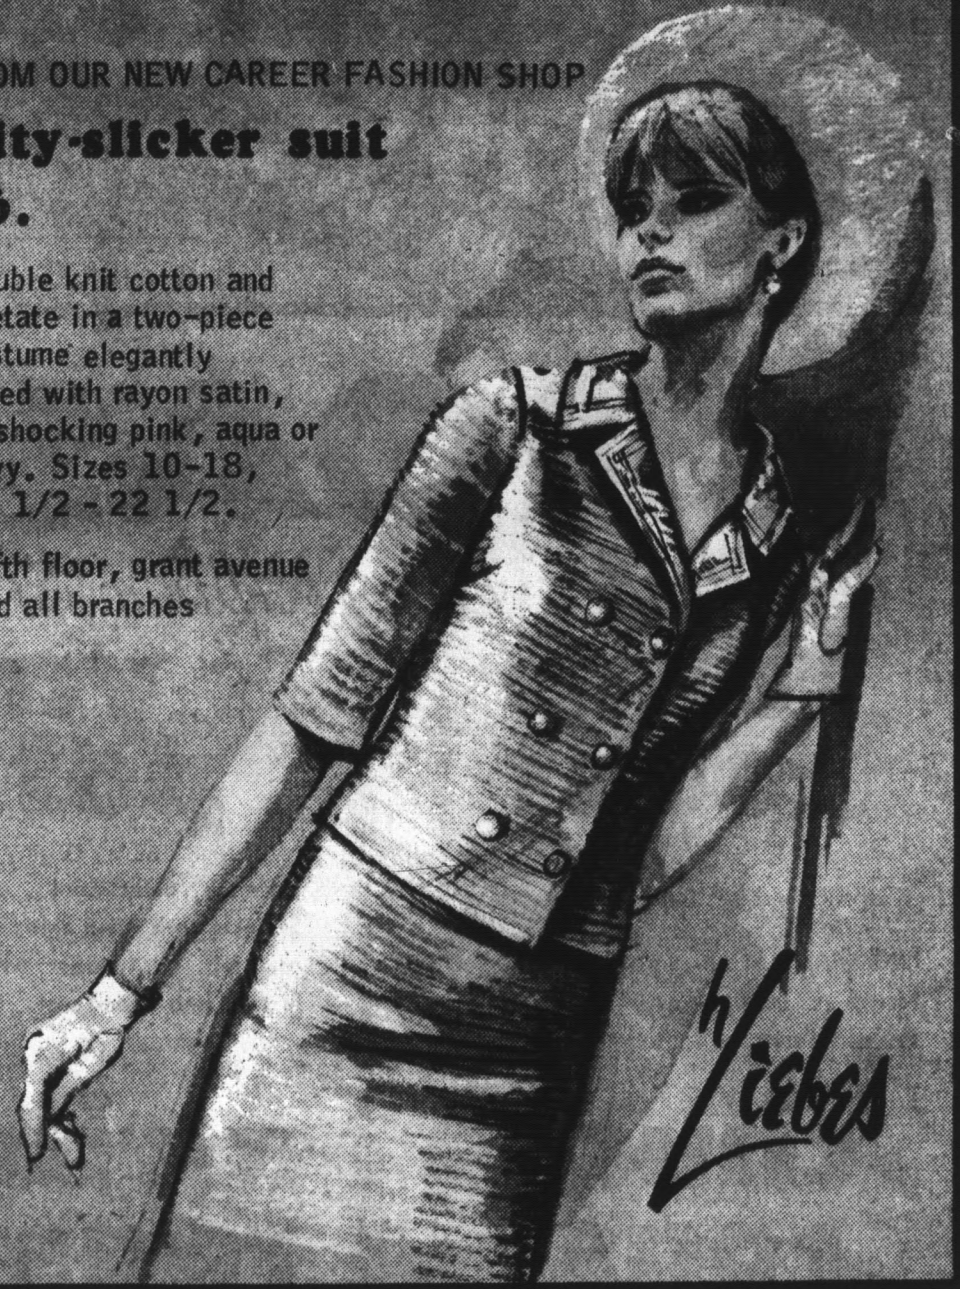

Lieutenant Staudenraus said that only a few years ago all Navy nurse billets were filled and applications could be accepted only as retirements made openings available.

D.C. LUCKY STREAK

W About This Accountant

W ABOUT this lucky accountant everybody's talking about in Daly City these days.

Name's Alfred O. Belotz, they say, and he has an office in the Westlake Shopping Center.

The other day he won a $5,000 Cadillac in a Temple Judea drawing — the second car he's won (the first was a Buick given away by the Giants) in a year and a half.

Which is unusual enough in itself, most folks would agree, but you see, this guy Belotz also just happened to be the chairman of the raffle.

Talk about an embarrassing moment. Belotz, according to startled witnesses, was dumfounded.

His wife, Bernice, sitting in the back of Temple Judea's Fellowship Hall in which the drawing was held, kept moaning "oh, no, oh, no."

Those sitting near her said she kept it up for three minutes.

What dumfounded Belotz even more than winning the raffle he'd directed was the fact he had spun the big cage in which the raffle tickets had been placed.

Daly City Councilman Michael DeBernardi drew the winning ticket.

WHAT IMMEDIATELY happened after the drawing was best summed up by Rabbi Herbert Morris who was on stage with raffle officials.

"Belotz just had a blank look on his face. He couldn't

ALFRED BELOTZ
He Was Dumfounded

RABBI MORRIS
His Wife Cried

believe it. All sorts of things must have went through his mind."

But that's only the beginning of the story.

The accountant called his wife up to the stage and after the two had huddled in whispered conversation for 30 seconds, Belotz announced he would take the optional $5,000 in lieu of the Cadillac and would donate the $5,000 to the temple.

The hall exploded in applause.

"My wife began to cry and so did other women," said Rabbi Morris.

BUT THERE'S more to this story of a lucky accountant.

At this week's regular Daly City Rotary Club luncheon, the social committee—following usual custom — held a fund-raising raffle.

The winner of the $5 top prize?

You guessed it! Accountant Belotz.

The footnote to this story concerns a coincidence—also involving luck.

On the same day Belotz won the Temple Judea raffle, another member of the temple congregation, Henry James, won a new car in a raffle at St. Ignatius Church in San Francisco.

His raffle number — hold your tickets—was the same as the number Belotz held.

And that's the end of this story of luck (and coincidence) that everybody in Daly City is talking about these days.

Laguna Mulls Pacifica Building Ordinance Criticized By City Resident

School banking for children in some Laguna Salada district elementary schools may be resumed.

A school savings program, conducted by the Bank of America, ended in the fall of 1964 when the bank discontinued its program throughout the state.

The Laguna Salada P-TA Coordinating Committee recommended trial of a new savings program in a few schools to test parent and child reaction.

The program would be conducted by the Pacifica branch of the Eureka Federal Savings and Loan Association of San Francisco, which has carried school accounts in San Carlos for more than 10 years.

The firm also has programs in San Francisco and Santa Rosa and claims some 5,000 student savers.

In a letter to the Laguna Salada School Board, Pacifica Eureka Manager Stanley vander Hule noted that savings accounts help children develop responsibility and self confidence.

Board Chairman Rodney A. Clark, however, questioned whether a savings program would actually teach children anything.

Over his dissent, board members voted to institute the trial program.

A building ordinance for Pacifica which was passed for introduction at the City Council meeting last week, received criticism from Frank Lottice of 844 Hewitt, president of the Rockaway Beach Progressive Club.

"It is getting to the point," Lottice contended, "where a homeowner is compelled to get a permit for everything he does to his house. People are being penalized for trying to improve their homes, or just keep them in repair, when the taxes go sky high."

Building Inspector Richard Taylor, who was discussing changes and amendments, had brought out that any structural addition in excess of $10 would require a building permit.

Councilmen debated where the line could be drawn between what constituted a structural addition and what would be considered decoration.

Changes and amendments in the building code include: a single plan check fee for duplicated buildings such as exists in tract housing; the use of a three inch granular fill for moisture absorption under a cement slab, and allowance of Class III (one hour fire resistant) plywood when marked for inspection visibility.

An appeal of Ellis Leff for a synagogue at 366 San Pablo was referred back to the Planning Commission for reconsideration following representative Randolph Halpert's statement that the "parking problem on the street" has been solved.

A disgruntled audience, expecting a public hearing, was told by Mayor Fox that proper channels must be utilized first.

Chamber Golf Set June 9

The Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce's 11th Annual Golf Tournament will be held Thursday, June 9, at the Lake Merced Golf and Country Club.

The event is one of the chamber's blue-ribbon events each year. An awards dinner will be held at the club after the tournament. Further information may be obtained from Peter Markovich, secretary-manager of the chamber.

Thieves Get Collection Worth $950

Thieves stole a coin and currency collection, valued at about $950 from a Daly City home Thursday morning.

Dolores Hartl of 526 Bellevue Avenue, Daly City, reported to police that the collection had been taken from a chest of drawers in a bedroom on the second floor.

Neighbors reported to police that two men in a car pulled up to the house about 8 a.m. and one of the men dashed into the building while the other drove the car down the street.

Mrs. Hartl said she had left the house about 7:55 a.m. and returned at 8:35.

Police said the thief apparently entered the house through an unlocked garage door.

The money collection included $350 in coin and $600 in currency.

Library Will Offer Books On Negroes

The Daly City Public Library will offer a selection of books suitable for reading during Negro History Week which began Sunday.

"Freedom now. This is the test of the nation," wrote Samuel Lubell in his book "White and Black."

The Negroes are bound to better their status with time. They want economic improvements, voting power to bring the Negro victory in his struggle, and to absorbed into society in much the same way as other minority and one-time immigrant groups have been in the past.

Mr. Lubell's book is one of many that can be read during Negro History Week.

"One thing is certain," says a statement published by the Los Angeles Public Library after the Watts riot, "the citizens of Los Angeles must acquire a better understanding of the social and economic problems that lie beneath the surface of this riot."

Believing that such an understanding is necessary in all cities of the country the Daly City Public Library invites the citizens of Daly City to use Negro History Week to better inform themselves on the racial problems that face the Negro race and the nation.

In addition, the office will be open Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. until March 31, the Medicare Enrollment deadline for 65-year-old persons.

'It's Only the Beginning, Folks'

GROUND-BREAKING ceremonies for the new Fairmont Shopping Center were held Friday at the 7.5-acre site north of Hickey Boulevard in Pacifica. Developer Henry Doelger is in the driver's seat, while helping turn the traditional first shovels full

Fairmont Center Set

GROUND HAS BEEN broken in Pacifica for a 7.5-acre shopping center which will cost about $1.5 million.

The center will be built in Fairmont, a master-planned community of more than 1,200 homes.

Officials of the city of Pacifica, headed by Mayor James Fox and representatives of Henry Doelger Builder, participated in the ceremonies.

According to Doelger, whose organization will construct the center, it will serve the residents of Fairmont and all surrounding areas: Westlake West, Fairmont West, Pacifica, San Bruno and points on the Coastside.

DOELGER SAID that the shopping center will contain a Safeway Market, a Safeway Super S Store, a major bank, a beauty salon, a restaurant, a barber shop, a television service center, a gourmet food shop, a real estate office and other service stores.

Designed by the architectural firm of Perata and Sylvester, the center will be completely mall-enclosed, assuring "weather-proof" all-year shopping comfort and pleasure.

Occupying over 80,000 square feet, with ample parking for over 400 automobiles, the Fairmont Shopping Center is scheduled to open in the early fall of this year.

Board Told CSM Plans 50% Done

Working plans for the new North campus of the College of San Mateo are 50 per cent complete, trustees of the San Mateo Junior College District learned last week.

Leonard M. Tivol, member of the architectural firm of John Carl Warnecke and Associates, informed the board that plans for the proposed campus center building at the San Bruno site have been completed and are ready for submission to the State Division of Architecture. The campus center building will contain the library, administrative offices and the student activities offices.

Morton Rader, member of the architectural firm of Chan-Rader and Associates which is designing the South Campus at Woodside, reported to the board that 25 per cent of the working drawings for that facility are completed.

As at all its meetings, the board spent considerable time in discussing with the architects plans and designs for various buildings to be built on the campuses, which are scheduled to open in 1968.

The two new campuses will be designed to assure that facilities will be accessible to the physically handicapped. This results from a study made last year by Richard Ames, a student at San Francisco State College. Following his study and recommendations, the matter was discussed and approved among college officials, the architects and Emanuel Leplin, president of the Peninsula chapter, Western Disabled Alliance.

D.C. HEARING SET

Planners Propose Two New Zonings

The Daly City Planning commission has set March 8 for a public hearing on two new types of zoning—one of which would give the city planning staff power to control architecture and design in certain areas.

The proposed planning package, prepared by City Planner Edward Lawson, would add to the city's zoning ordinances a "CO" or office-commercial zone and an "S-1" or design review district.

Land in the office-commercial zone would be for offices and similar uses. "CO" would be an entirely new classification, separate from other types of zoning.

The applicant could appeal the planners' decision to the planning commission and ultimately to the city council. The design review zoning, according to Lawson, "is intended to create, preserve and enhance areas of unusual civic significance."

An example of where it might be used would be in the area of the new Daly City Civic Center, Lawson said. Planners would be able not only to control design of the city buildings but to assure that surrounding buildings would be harmonious with them.

The "S-1" zoning, unlike any present Daly City zoning classification, could be applied to areas within existing zones—to allow architectural and design control.

With an "S-1" designation, the city planner's staff could review proposed buildings, signs or other construction with an eye to esthetics, Lawson said.

If the professional planners felt that approval of an application would be esthetically objectionable, they could deny it even though it might otherwise meet requirements for the zoning of the area.

The applicant could appeal the planners' decision to the planning commission and ultimately to the city council.

CSM Uses 'Stop-Gap' Measure

A "stop-gap" action giving College of San Mateo President Dr. Julio Bortolazzo the power to approve or deny solicitation of funds on the college campus by off-campus organizations was approved by the San Mateo Junior College District Board of Trustees.

Bortolazzo said that the authority is needed until a clarification of district policy on such solicitations can be worked out. "There is a great deal of work to be done in this area," Bortolazzo said.

He stated that the stop-gap measure still will permit appeal to the board of trustees by any group which is denied a solicitation permit.

Denial of any such application will result if it is found that (1) the granting would be contrary to the welfare of the district or the welfare of the students, (2) that it would be contrary to public health, safety or welfare, or (3) that it would result in, or tend to result in, the commission of an unlawful act.

The action was prompted by the recent efforts of the Viet Nam Day Committee, which is not a campus organization, to solicit funds.

County Backs New Bridge At Sierra Pt.

Members of the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors indicated last week they are about ready to throw in the towel and give up the fight for their choice of a location for the southern Bay crossing.

At the urging of Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, the board voted to ask the state legislature to make a prompt decision on the location of the bridge and to allocate funds immediately so that construction can start early in 1967.

The board's action makes no mention of a particular location.

San Mateo County officials have fought for a western terminus in the vicinity of Sierra Point between South San Francisco and Brisbane. But last week the State Division of Bay Toll Crossings recommended that the western end be at India Basin in San Francisco.

Prior to the meeting, Fitzgerald said he doubted that all jurisdictions involved would ever be able to agree on a location and declared that the important thing now is to get started on construction.

"We should concentrate now on making certain that we will have adequate access to the bridge, wherever it is located," Fitzgerald said. "That is our most important problem now."

The supervisor said that extension of the Embarcadero Freeway in San Francisco would be a necessity to serve the new bridge and County Manager E. R. Stallings said at the meeting yesterday that the controversial Bayfront Freeway would be mandatory to provide access from the south.

County Engineer Don S. Wilson pointed out that the India Basin location would be much more costly than a Sierra Point crossing and said he still held out hope for the latter location.

Stallings, who has called the India Basin location "illogical" because it nearly parallels that tube crossing proposed for the Bay Area Rapid Transit District system, said today that India Basin site is not a cinch for legislative approval.

Assemblymen Carl Britschgi and Leo J. Ryan of San Mateo County have stated that they will fight the India Basin proposal when it comes before the legislature.

JACKET, SWEATER STOLEN
Steven Hargus of 12 Weston Drive, Daly City, reported to police last week that a boy's zipper jacket and a sweater had been stolen from his car, parked in the Westlake Shopping Center parking lot.

'EXAGGERATIONS' Official Tempers NPL 'Drop' Talk

A report that the two high schools in the South San Francisco Unified School District will "drop" certain varsity sports has been termed "exaggerated and unfair" by Owen Kashevaroff, director of athletics at El Camino High School.

Kashevaroff commented that the school district "will re-evaluate" the athletic programs at both South San Francisco High School and El Camino.

Reason for the re-evaluation is that the school district must make both high schools three-year schools and add another year to the junior high school program.

"Reports that we (the high schools) are dropping so-called minor sports are unfair," said Kashevaroff. "Right now we feel there is a serious question that we can field teams in these sports."

The sports in question are soccer, water polo and tennis. None of the three sports is a North Peninsula League sport. Both high schools participate in the North Peninsula League at all levels in all league sports.

"Non-NPL sports will be placed on an intramural basis," explained Kashevaroff. "But if the NPL makes them league sports then we will immediately comply with the league and participate in those sports."

Basic to the decision to "cut back" the athletic program at the schools is the new three-year program.

The decision to add the freshman year to the junior high schools (as is done in many districts throughout California) and drop it from the high school program was made by the School Board of the district.

According to the report, South San Francisco will not be affected as much as El Camino since the older school is larger.

But El Camino will be faced with the prospect of conducting a full athletic program (one of the largest in the county now) with "about 500 boys" according to Kashevaroff, who doubles as the Commissioner of the North Peninsula League.

"Already El Camino is scheduled to have a smaller faculty and a lowered budget for next school year," said Kashevaroff.

Asked why varsity sports are considered for dropping along with the expected cutting out of the freshman sports Kashevaroff stated that "the coaches feel that they need the lower level of play especially in soccer to build for the varsity."

El Camino will field sophomore teams in baseball and football rather than the usual

Safety pays. And Wednesday after seven years, it paid for Mrs. Virginia Jaeger.

Mrs. Jaeger, a news representative for the Coastside Chronicle, was ready to cover the Pacific City Council's regular meeting, when she found herself the first order of business.

When Mayor James Fox called her to the platform, Mrs. Jaeger obviously wondered what she had done.

The mayor told her, and the audience.

Since 1959, he said, she had served on the City's Safety Commission. Last year she was its chairman.

In doing so, the mayor continued, Mrs. Jaeger showed, "unselfish devotion in furthering the ends of public safety and . . . the welfare of her fellow citizens."

Plans Under Way for 100 Dog House Restaurants

DOG HOUSE RESTAURANTS will open another new unit in South San Francisco within the next few weeks, according to LEO MARTAY, Regional Manager for DOG HOUSE, INC. of Youngstown, Ohio, who now makes his home in California. The new restaurant will be one of over 100 Dog House restaurants scheduled to be built in California within the next five years. Designed by JULIUS TARESHAW, who took first prize in the Building of the Year Contest in 1963, the 1,152 square foot building offers a new concept in restaurant architecture. The new Dog House is specially designed to handle the tremendous flow of customer traffic. . . . JOE and LOU ERCOLI are counting the days until Candlestick Park blossoms out—their South San Francisco LEANING TOWER is only minutes away from home plate.

Rosalind Licata Featured At The Piano

Miss Rosalind Licata, the attractive daughter of Nina and Vince of Peninsula restaurant fame, visited her music teacher, Kathy Dee, at the Hillside Inn, the other eve (Kathy entertains on the 88's here). Rosalind was asked if she would like to entertain with a few piano selections (her first public appearance). After which, the applause was long lasting. Incidentally, Rosalind celebrated her 13th birthday February 7. There is little doubt that Papa Vince will soon install a piano in the lounge of his Vince's Italian and Sea Food restaurant — thereby providing employment for the entire Licata family under the same roof.

Looking for a restaurant with a beautiful romantic setting, serving superb Continental cuisine, with unrivaled service? Call RENO PIETROBON at La Hacienda Inn in Los Gatos and have him reserve one of his choice tables for you. Here's one place that has everything—view, food, fun and service.

When you're "in the soup" all the time, the best place it could happen to you is at Dave Rasmussen's Shadows in San Mateo. Even if you've never cared for soup of any kind, it's a sure bet you'll change your mind at this "soup oasis."

While in the neighborhood, visit Dave and Duane's Cap'n's Cabin next door.

Of the two different musical revues being presented nightly at Finocchio's in San Francisco, patrons seem to be unable to choose a favorite. In plain words, both shows are the proverbial "big bangs" which elicit rounds of applause. The newest opus, "Funtime Circus," is a circus of fun with acts patterned after the great P. T. Barnum's three-ring idea.

The second attraction is "Who Needs Automation?" and it's very different in its spoofing of what automation is doing to the country economically. These shows follow each other twice every night and patrons can see them both for the price of one admission.

"MUSIC BY GEORGE" is heard once again—the famous violinist GEORGE LIBERACE is currently playing for dinner-dancing nightly, except Sunday, in the MARK HOPKINS' Lochinvar Room. The popular dance band may be heard from 8:30 p.m. until 12:30; Saturday until 1 a.m. Liberace brings with him the talented pianist MILAN KYTNAR, whom he hired on his last engagement at the Mark as pianist-arranger. Kytnar had been a TV network musical director in Australia. However, coming to the United States, he paved the hard road of job hunting and secured a job as porter at Hotel Mark Hopkins. He soon caught the ear of George Liberace, who heard him play and engaged him immediately. Liberace music has an appeal for young and old. His versatility of selections includes most of today's popular favorites as well as music for young-old-timers who prefer music of the forties. . . .

Luncheon Now Being Served At La Touraine

The La Touraine, French restaurant in Burlingame, is once again serving luncheon. Hundreds who enjoy the exceptional cuisine of Chef Maurice Brosier and the excellent service of Ernest Luisetti, may enjoy this noon-day treat Tuesday through Friday.

Dinner is served Tuesday through Saturday. The La Touraine is not open Sunday or Monday. Cocktails; choice wines.

For a pleasant hour with friends, try cocktails in the intimate, courtyard atmosphere of L'Auberge, the sophisticated French restaurant near Atherton.

Eddie Daniels is the genial mixologist, whose perfectly-proportioned drinks are making the bistro's cocktail lounge as famous as chef George Bollag's superb cuisine. Bob Wagner blends the alcoholic brews during day shift.

Weekend Dinner Dancing At Holiday Inn

For tops in dining, "the smart set" finds the Royal Hall Room at Fred and Jerry Rapp's Holiday Inn in South San Francisco, where Gary Long "88's" and vocals with Charlie White and Ed Satterlee, for dinner-dancing every Friday and Saturday nights, most desirable. Don't forget the pianobar entertainment in the lounge nightly, except Sunday.

BUS-FIRM ASKS D.C. AID

Northgate Faces Key Decisions After Comeback

By JOHN HORGAN
THE NORTH County's own bus company — Northgate Transit—a firm, whose history is filled with insecurity and trauma, is on the brink of being involved in two decisions that could drastically affect its future.

First, Daly City is conducting a survey that will furnish (the city council hopes) San Francisco Municipal Railway authorities with sufficient data to prompt the extension of Muni lines into portions of Daly City.

Second, the transit company will submit a written proposal for improving its service to City Manager Edward Frank. The financial outcome of this proposal could be expected to have far-ranging implications.

But Joseph Estrada, general manager of Northgate Transit, is not worried—he's been through this kind of thing before.

ORGANIZED in July of 1955, Northgate has been a controversial transportation entity in the North County ever since its inception.

Northgate is a driver-owned system of public transportation for residents of parts of Stonestown in San Francisco, all of Daly City (including the soon-to-be-booming Serramonte district) and most of South San Francisco.

The most recently solved problem for Estrada and his group of 11 drivers was to comply with an order from the Public Utilities Commission in 1964 that the company "shape up" its entire operation.

The PUC said it would not grant a fare raise unless the order was carried out. The company followed the dictates of the PUC and made these changes in operation: A general manager (Estrada) was named and placed on a regular salary.

A preventative maintenance program was established.

Five of the company's then 10 buses were replaced.

With the compliance with the PUC edict, the company was then allowed to raise its rates from 15 cents to 20 cents per ride. The Sunday and holiday rate is 25 cents per ride.

According to Estrada, with the rate increase "drivers are now making money."

But such wasn't always the case. Such a thing as "profit" is something new for the drivers, Estrada indicated.

IN THE COMPANY'S first full year of operation, 1956, it lost over $22,000. That money came directly out of the pockets of the drivers.

Last year the drivers grossed over $74,000 and, as Estrada put it, "we all made a little profit." There has also been an increase in the number of passengers handled.

The line carried about 325,000 passengers in 1956 and increased that figure to 393,000 last year. Estrada estimates that the buses traveled over 429,000 miles last year.

The company began service in Daly City after San Francisco decided to quit its money-losing Muni operations there.

At the time Muni was pulling out, there was a move to work out a plan whereby Daly City would subsidize Muni.

The idea fizzled out then but there has been some talk of reviving it. The present survey being conducted by Daly City should throw new light on the matter, city officials have indicated.

IF ESTRADA is worried

NORTHGATE TRANSIT COMPANY general manager Joseph Estrada hands bus driver Mrs. Betty Shoemaker her day's route assignments as she prepares to begin a run. Northgate is a driver-owned about the current plans that could affect his line, he doesn't show it.

"If the Muni lines come into Daly City, the people will be cutting their throats," he commented. "But I'm not worried because we have other cities we can work in. We can conceivably drop the whole Daly City operation and move everything into Stonestown and South San Francisco — it would mean less headaches."

However, Estrada tempered that comment by stating that he would "rather not drop the Daly City run."

He added that if Muni does come into Daly City, he can guarantee that "service won't be as good as it is now with us."

bus service that extends from Stonestown in San Francisco, through Daly City to South San Francisco.

(Post-Times Photo)

Besides that qualification, Estrada also promised that he would "not let the Muni come in and take all the good routes and leave the worst for us" if Muni serves Daly City in a piecemeal fashion.

ESTRADA is taking concrete steps to solidify his firm's status in the North County.

He will submit a detailed document to the Daly City city manager's office that will outline the needs of the company and a financial plan that would meet these needs.

Prime concern, he said, is the need for five new buses—each of which will cost $12,000.

It is Estrada's proposal to have the city co-sign a lease-ing agreement with Northgate. The general manager and a Daly City bank are working on final details to be incorporated in the proposal.

REASON FOR the new buses is an anticipated increase in business in Serramonte and at other North County points.

Estrada plans to serve the Bay Area Rapid Transit District station in Daly City as well as Serramonte.

Northgate already serves the new Mary's Help Hospital up to midnight every night at a loss, Estrada claimed, to the company.

Along with the proposed new buses, Estrada also will submit a plan to improve the upkeep facilities of the firm.

He will ask for a central location that would store buses, serve as an inspection station, have one or two gasoline pumps and possibly include an office of his own. Estrada currently shares an office on outer Mission Street with a tax consultant.

With these plans for new equipment and new facilities, Estrada and his drivers are looking to the future with optimism.

The possibility of an expanded Muni bus operation in Daly City has them worried, they'll agree, but now they've got the plans to meet that possibility.
